"We Can Lend If We Realize Necessity" Lions Club Told

War Effort Gathers Speed Like Snowball, States Toronto Executive, Urging Support Of Loan

"We mustn't lose our sense of humor, for undoubtedly we are going to have to go through a great ordeal," said Burdick A. Trestrail, vice-president of Rogers-Majestic and vice-president of Canadian Radio Corporation, at a Lions club meeting on Monday evening.

Mr. Trestrail spoke in support of the Victory loan. Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales, Victory bond organizers and others were present as guests.

Mr. Trestrail recalled how back in 1933 he had presented to a Buffalo audience a "simple and sound" solution for the depression but that it had not been acted upon.

His solution was a carefully planned war between Canada and the United States, for "preparing for war always brings prosperity."

"We're into this thing for better or worse, and we should face the fact that it is likely to be worse before it is better," Mr. Trestrail said of the present war. "We have a terrific handicap to overcome. The Nazis have been preparing for this war for years.

"We have been bewildered by lack of leadership, but you can't do a volte face in ten minutes. The war effort is like a snowball. When it gets going it will move faster and faster.

"We must provide the money. The thing to remember is that we can lend the money if we see the importance of it, if we realize that we must make a sacrifice.

"For eight years Hitler has had full control of the minds of German youth. Boys who were 13 when he took control are now 21. They know nothing except what he has told them. They will do anything he says.

"We are up against a machine so powerful, so capable, that anything can happen.

"You must subscribe for more bonds than you think you can. This is no time for fooling."

President J. S. Law was in the chair. J. E. Nesbitt and F. A. Lundy moved a vote of thanks.

"This club will probably be asked to assume great responsibilities in the next few weeks, and in the next few years," said Mayor Dales. "It is no time to consult our leisure."

Lake Simcoe Softball Gets Going With Sharon Victory

First Inning Avalanche Holds Down Boys From Keswick

By JACK PEPPIATT

The Lake Simcoe softball league got under way on the Sharon Temple grounds Tuesday night, when Sharon, by virtue of an eight-run splurge in the first inning, defeated Keswick 9-3. The game went into six innings and was then stopped on account of darkness.

Keswick came to bat first and got a lead on a home run by Ken Hodgins. Lorne Ganton was on the Sharon mound.

In the last of the first, with Sharon at bat, the Keswick defence, crippled by the loss of several of last year's star players, seemed to crumble. Harry Boag, Doug. Eves, Ross Eves, Floyd Breen, Ted Fife, Don. Glover, Jim Fountain and Harry Boag again, scored for Sharon and sewed up the game right there. Breen smashed a home run to knock three batters in before him.

Bob Rumble scored for Keswick in the fourth and Royden Prosser in the fifth and that was all the team could manage. A threatened comeback by Keswick was cut off in the sixth when Don. Glover, fireball artist for Newmarket last year, replaced Ganton on the mound and fanned three men.

Sharon got its last run when Doug. Eves scored in the fourth. Ganton got eight strike-outs and Glover three for Sharon, while Lawton got three for Keswick.

Charlie Cunningham, Newmarket, umpired behind the plate, and Frank Boyd, Newmarket, handled the bases.

Sharon: Boag, Ganton, Doug. Eves, Ross Eves, Floyd Breen, Roy Eves, Fife, Glover, Fountain.

Keswick: Prosser, Ed. Marritt, Hodgins, Sherman Sedore, Bob Rumble, Scott, Leon Connell, Bill Lawton, Jack Osborne.

HE TALKS, HE FISHES!

Here is a recent photograph of Andy Clarke, the voice of "Neighborly News" heard by CBC Ontario listeners on Sundays at 10 a.m., E.D.S.T. Andy is famed for his fishing exploits and when not reviewing more than 180 Ontario weekly newspapers he is exploring the province in search of some new fishing spot. During the next two months he will have to desert his piscatorial activities for a series of speaking engagements throughout Ontario. However, Andy adds that he will have his fishing equipment along to keep him company—just in case!

WINS FELLOWSHIP AT JOHNS HOPKINS

Rowell Bowles, son of the Rev. Newton E. Bowles of Bradford, has been given a post-graduate fellowship in English literature from Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland. He is working towards a doctorate.

NOMINATE OFFICERS FOR LIONS EXECUTIVE

Names for the next year's officers submitted at the Newmarket Lions club on Monday evening by a nominating committee were as follows: president, W. M. Cockburn; vice-president, Gordon L. Manning; 2nd vice-president, Frank Bowser.

Lion tamer, Chester Best, J. E. Nesbitt; secretary, Herman E. Gilroy, T. F. Doyle; treasurer, Frank T. Courtney; tail-twister, T. B. Scott; Billboard editor, A. C. West, Dr. W. O. Noble.

Directors (three to be elected): Dr. S. J. Boyd, Leo Cull, John Macnab, Dr. W. O. Noble, R. L. Pritchard, L. B. Rose, Fred Thompson, A. C. West, Wm. White.

PLAY BALL...

Davis Leather and the Military Camp start off the hardball season in Newmarket on Monday night when they clash at the new hardball diamond on the Stuart Scott school grounds.

The opening ceremonies start at 6.45 o'clock and the game will get under way at 7 p.m. The Newmarket Citizens' band and the camp pipe band will start the boys off on the proper beat. A $5 war savings certificate will be given to some lucky person.

The new hardball diamond is said to be the best this town has ever seen, so that the game should go along at a fast and exciting pace.

Sisters Of Providence Will Teach At St. John's

Sisters of Providence will take over the teaching of Newmarket separate school students at the conclusion of this school year, Rev. Dr. W. D. Muckle, pastor of centennial celebrations will not be held until after the war, Rev. Dr. W. D. Muckle said on Sunday.

After the establishment of a Catholic parish in Newmarket, mass was first celebrated in what is now the junior room of St. John's separate school. The present church was built many years later.

TOXOID CLINIC IS POPULAR, AS 500 CROWD IN

Dr. Wesley Recommends Taking Whooping-Cough Vaccine

PROVINCE SUPPORTS

"The provincial department of health states that whooping-cough vaccine may be given at the same time as scarlet fever toxin," Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H., informed The Era this week.

"With the advance of science, preventive medicine, through the means of vaccine therapy, has been able to protect people from smallpox by vaccination," Dr. Wesley said.

"Smallpox vaccination protects people from smallpox, diphtheria toxoiding protects against diphtheria, typhoid vaccination protects against typhoid fever, and it is well known that scarlet fever toxin immunizes against scarlet fever.

"It is really interesting to note the big way the present scarlet fever toxin clinic is going over, nearly 500 being toxoided at the different schools and the York county hospital, and there are only a few who have shown any reaction following the treatment.

"For some time there have been a few cases of whooping-cough in outside places, but it is only lately showing up in Newmarket.

"Whooping-cough is another of the children's diseases that can be prevented by vaccine treatment. While its effectiveness to immunize children against whooping-cough over a five-year period is not definitely established, enough is known about it to advise its use.

"As there is whooping-cough in town, parents are advised to have their children vaccinated against the disease. The department of health is sending out an improved vaccine. This will prevent children from taking whooping-cough if given before exposure to the disease."

TOWN LOSES HIGHLY ESTEEMED CITIZEN

Newmarket lost a highly esteemed citizen on Tuesday afternoon, when Walter Herbert Brodie died in his 69th year. Mr. Brodie had been ill only a week. He was not well when he arrived home from work on Tuesday evening of last week and suffered a stroke on Thursday night, from which he never recovered.

Born in Snowball on May 2, 1873, he was the son of Amy Hannah Hutt and William C. Brodie. Mr. Brodie spent the early part of his life in Glenville, where he attended school, later moving to Aurora with his parents, where they lived for a few years. Mr. Brodie's father opened a butcher shop in Newmarket, and after learning the butcher trade in Uxbridge, he assisted his father here, for a few years.

For the past 25 to 30 years, Mr. Brodie has followed the carpentry trade, and for the last few years has been employed by the Office Specialty Mfg. Co., as a carpenter millwright. He was also town assessor for a couple of years.

Always fond of music, Mr. Brodie was a member of Trinity United church choir.

Walter Herbert Brodie married Elizabeth Allard of Parry Sound, and they would have marked their 43rd wedding anniversary on June 23. Mr. Brodie comes from a well-known family, being the third generation to have been born and lived in this district.

Surviving besides his widow are one daughter, Aleta, Mrs. C. G. Park of Whitby, a sister, Ada, Mrs. Alex. Gunn of Toronto, and a brother, Oscar Brodie of Toronto.

The funeral service was held this afternoon at his late residence, 11 Arden Ave. Dr. A. E. Runnells conducted the service. Interment was in Newmarket cemetery.

The pallbearers were Herbert Graham, H. M. Hooker, George Luesby, Elgin Perrin, William Rutledge, and Seth Kirton.

BOWL FOR REILLY CUP

Weather permitting, members of the Newmarket bowling club will play off for the Leslie Reilly trophy tonight. This trophy is in honor of the late former officer of the club.

SOCIETY WILL HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

The York Pioneer and Historical Society's 23rd annual pilgrimage to Sharon will be held on June 7. Games and treats will be provided for the children of the village and district.

Anti-Beverage Room Forces Prepare For All Eventualities

Former Mayor Named President Of League To Oppose Increased Beer Sale, Officers Named

An organization to oppose beverage rooms in Newmarket was formed under the name of "Newmarket Citizens' League" at a meeting of about 100 persons in the town hall on Tuesday evening.

Dr. S. J. Boyd, former mayor, acted as chairman and was subsequently elected president of the new organization.

Officers were elected as follows: honorary president, Aubrey Davis; president, Dr. S. J. Boyd; vice-president, Joseph Vale; secretary, Wesley Brooks; assistant secretary, Miss Leonora Starr; treasurer, W. H. Eves.

Ministers of town appointed to the executive. Finance committee, Joseph Evans, R. L. Boag, Wm. Mino, John McSkimming, L. R. Coupland, O. E. Tench, Capt. Ernest Falle, C. G. Wainman.

A chairman and vice-chairman are to be appointed for each ward.

Rev. Arthur Greer acted as secretary of the meeting.

"Unfortunately, there are so many things on our minds," said Dr. Boyd in his opening remarks. "We can do only so much. Unfortunately, some of our townsmen have thrust upon us another fight—for certainly there will be a fight.

"This is an inopportune time. If the gentlemen responsible want to test public opinion, they have chosen a poor time. It's a poor time to divide our people. But we will oppose it in a vigorous way.

"I have spoken to a number of people about it. Many who are not averse to taking a drink themselves have expressed themselves as strongly against beverage rooms in Newmarket. It would look to me as if the campaign would be favorable to us if we work hard enough."

"The war issue overshadows all else at this time," said Rev. Dr. C. W. DeMille, newly elected secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation. "Whole communities have been changed since the declaration of war. The social problems, economic problems and all other problems are made more difficult of solution by reason of the liquor problem.

"The liquor traffic has never been so highly organized as today. They see a promising field in Newmarket. The military camp here seems to offer a lucrative field for the liquor interests.

"Who is putting on the pressure to have beverage rooms opened in various places in Ontario? The liquor interests, because there is money in it. Two hundred million dollars were paid for drink in Canada last year. Approximately $55,000,000 went to the federal, provincial and municipal governments."

After the election of officers, Dr. Boyd said: "I was interested in bringing the military camp to Newmarket. One of the reasons that they decided to come to Newmarket was that the town was dry. The officials said to me that that was a fine thing.

"There is a lot of talk about bootleggers. The business of the bootleggers is fairly small. They are kept down. If the beer interests were selling enough here through the bootleggers, they wouldn't want beverage rooms."

VICTORY LOAN IS UNDER WAY NEXT MONDAY

Winston Churchill And Premier King Will Broadcast

CANVASSERS NAMED

Northern York county Victory Loan canvassers received their final campaign instructions at a meeting in the King George hotel headquarters last night. The campaign will open June 2, and close not later than June 21.

A 15-minute radio address by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, followed by a 15-minute message from Prime Minister Winston Churchill, on Sunday at 10 p.m., D.S.T., over a national network, will give the war loan campaign its send-off.

Competition between cities, towns, villages and other canvassing units for the best record on sales of Victory Loan bonds will mark the campaign.

The following canvassers have been appointed:

Aurora: Chas. Malloy, Frank Underhill, B. E. Hambly.

East Gwillimbury: Horace Pearson, Mount Albert, W. Stevens, Sharon, G. B. Thompson, Holland Landing.

North Gwillimbury: Percy Mahoney, Keswick, Ryan Switzer, Keswick.

King: Rev. John Galloway, King, W. E. Barker, R. R. 3, King, Aubrey Doan, R. R. 2, Newmarket, Gladstone Lloyd, Schomberg, H. S. Pringle, Nobleton.

Whitchurch: Stanley Janes, R. R. 3, Newmarket, J. A. Clark, R. R. 4, Stouffville, Geo. H. Leary, R. R. 1, Gormley.

Newmarket: Joseph Vale, St. Patrick's ward, Wm. Bosworth, St. Andrew's ward, Walter Eves, St. George's ward.

Stouffville: A. C. Burkholder, Stouffville, J. C. Hodgins, Stouffville.

Sutton: M. O. Tremayne, Sutton; Georgina, R. H. Corner, Pefferlaw.

SHIRLEY PATTERSON WINS DEGREE IN ASTRONOMY

Miss Shirley Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Patterson, was granted the degree of doctor of philosophy at Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass., on Saturday. Her post-graduate work was carried out at the Harvard College observatory under Dr. Harlow Shapley.

Miss Patterson has now returned home.

DANCE AT MULOCK'S WILL HELP RED CROSS

The Newmarket Red Cross summer dance which is being staged at Middlebrook's Rendezvous at Mulock's Corners tomorrow night promises to be a gala affair. Many couples from Newmarket, Aurora and the surrounding districts are planning to attend and help this worthy cause.

Art West and his orchestra will provide the music and the dance will be conducted along the lines of a summer resort dance, with refreshments at the booth.

Mrs. Allen Cody is convenor of the entertainment and she will be assisted by four captains and other members of the committee. Captains are Mrs. Robert Pritchard, Mrs. Jack Morris, Mrs. N. R. Spooner and Mrs. J. O. Little. Other committee members are Mrs. G. E. Case, Mrs. Kenneth Stiver, Mrs. Chas. Cunningham, Mrs. Fred Edwards, Mrs. Jack King, Mrs. Sanford King, Mrs. W. M. Cockburn, Mrs. Ronald Perry, Mrs. C. S. Gilbert, Mrs. George D. Bender and Mrs. Thos. Leach.

VICTORY TORCH WILL BE SEEN HERE BRIEFLY

A Torch Day parade will be held in Newmarket next Friday night, June 6, as part of an effort to put across the local Victory Loan drive.

A huge parade will start at the Davis Leather plant at 7.30 p.m. and proceed from there up Main St. to the Specialty park, where ceremonies of breaking the Union Jack atop a new 80-foot flag-pole will take place.

The victory torch, which is being flown from Vancouver to Halifax, thence to Prime Minister Churchill, as a symbol of the spirit of the war drive, will be in view at the park for less than an hour.

The town fathers, members of the school boards, the town bands, the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, the high school glee club, the fire brigade, the Newmarket Veterans, the Queen's York Rangers, a number of troops from the training camp, together with a pipe band, and other town organizations are expected to take part in the parade and ceremonies.

Public, separate and high school students will march in the parade, carrying flags.

A crowd of from 2,000 to 3,000, it is believed, will attend the ceremonies at the park.

"Good wishes aren't enough. Buy Victory Bonds."

IS STUDENT PILOT

Arthur Badland, Roche's Point, who joined the R.C.A.F. last fall, is now a student at the Malton elementary flying training school. He graduated from Newmarket high school in 1938 and worked in a Roche's Point bank before joining the air force.

TEA NETS $77, STILL A FEW GIFTS NEEDED

Hope To Round Out Gift To Old Countrry Namesake Fund

GIFTS STILL COME

Contributions of local citizens to the Newmarket (England) Spitfire fund have passed the $350 mark, which is well in excess of the original $250 objective for Newmarket, Canada, states H. M. Gladman, secretary-treasurer of the fund.

It is now hoped to reach $447, which would be a round £100.

A Spitfire tea held at Jack's Grill, Main St., on Friday afternoon netted $77.68 for the fund. Mrs. H. M. Gladman, Mrs. Nan Montgomery and Mrs. Wm. Young lent their efforts in making the cookies and arranging the tea. Mrs. W. L. Kidd donated a beautiful display of flowers which decorated the shop.

The tea committee expressed thanks to all ladies who helped to make the affair a success and also to the merchants who donated tea and other articles.

Mrs. J. R. Stallard won the Scotch tea cosy in the lucky draw. Mrs. Thos. Niles won a pair of stockings donated by F. N. Chandler. Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales drew the lucky numbers.

Town Puts Up $365 Flagpole To Help Sell Victory Bonds

Will Be Located Near Specialty Where Torch Day Ceremonies Will Be Held, Council Decides

The erection site of the "Victory Loan" flag-pole was changed today by consent of the town council to the Office Specialty park grounds on Water St. near the pond, Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales told The Era. The dedication ceremonies will take place there instead of at the Lions club park.

Work of erecting the flag-pole began today.

Purchase of a flag-pole 80 feet high, and costing, together with a 20-foot Union Jack, $365, was approved by the town council at a special meeting yesterday noon.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales said that the pole would take nine days to erect and could be put up just in time for the dedication of the flag at the Torch Day ceremonies, which will be held in the Lions' park on Friday, June 6.

"It will cost the town less than $200 with the donations we will get," Mayor Dales said.

Four cement pillars will be required to support the pole in addition to guide wires. It is expected that the flag will be in plain view from Yonge St.

Councillor Wm. Dixon opposed the purchase of the pole as an unnecessary war-time expenditure.

"I am against spending money on a flag-pole at the present time," he said. "We are economizing on other things, we should economize on this. If we have any money to give away at present we could give it to some fund like the Spitfire fund. It is absolutely unnecessary."

"If you call this lack of economy, I say you are wrong," replied Mayor Dales. "I think it's an educational thing which we should spend money for. It is as necessary a thing as are schools. In Fascist countries they have flags and symbols everywhere."

Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale and Councillor J. L. Spillette also spoke in support of the motion to purchase the flag.

"Such a ceremony will be a focal point for this Victory Loan drive," Mr. Vale declared. "The town flag was not flying on the 24th of May. I think it is advisable to spend this money."

Mayor Dales' proposal to erect the flag-pole on the water-works lawn was shelved. Councillor A. D. Evans said that the pole would be in between Hydro power lines carrying 26,000 volts and town lines carrying 4,000 volts. If the pole toppled "it would throw out of gear the power from Sutton to Leaside," he said.

Councillor Bowser stumped for the Lions' park as the flag-pole site. "It is going to be the spot of the town in a few years," he declared. Reeve Fred A. Lundy supported Mr. Bowser and the Lions' park site was chosen.

St. John's Parish Reaches 100, Put Off Celebration

Mass First Celebrated In What Is Now Separate School

Although St. John's Catholic parish has been in existence in Newmarket for 100 years, the St. John's R. C. church, announced on Sunday.

Four sisters from the mother house in Kingston will establish their convent in the parish hall, Main St., Dr. Muckle said. Two of them will be qualified school teachers and another will teach music.

Dr. Muckle said that the arrangements to have the sisters teach school were made with the approval of the archbishop and of the separate school board. He said that it was a most important step in the progress of the parish.

CITIZENS URGED TO DECORATE HOMES

A Toronto firm which makes a small charge for decorating homes and buildings will be in Newmarket probably on Friday. Anyone who would like assistance in decorating could get in touch with this firm through the mayor, Dr. L. W. Dales.

The Victory Loan committee is urging all citizens to decorate their homes. Substantial prizes in war savings certificates are being offered for the best decorated homes and business buildings.

Trainees, Sentenced Today For Theft Of Merchant's Car, Both Came From Broken Homes

Albert Olsfield, 19, and Wm. Kline, 19, two soldiers from the Newmarket training camp, both of Hamilton, were sentenced in Newmarket police court this afternoon for theft of an automobile owned by Alex. Eves, Newmarket merchant, on May 15. The car was found smashed up on a road outside Guelph.

Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe sentenced Kline to a term of six months definite and three months indeterminate in the Ontario reformatory, and Olsfield was put on probation for one year and was ordered to pay damages of $75 to Mr. Eves. Both soldiers had juvenile records.

"The only reason I am doing this in regard to Olsfield is that he had little chance in his youth," said his worship. "He has had no proper supervision. His parents separated. Now he is under the supervision of the army. The army is taking a very grave responsibility in taking him. However, if they think it in the interest of the public, I think they should be allowed to do so."

Turning to Kline, the magistrate said: "You're the one that stole the car. You got the other one in this. You've had two chances before. I'm not going to let you go. When you get out I hope you will get enough sense to realize that crime does not pay."

The commanding officer of the two men said that he was certain the two men would make good soldiers and he asked the magistrate not to impose a jail term on them. He said that since they joined the army in February their "record was not so good," but that "these boys have had a very poor background."

"I joined the army trying to get out of trouble," Olsfield said. "I think that is the only place for me." Olsfield said that his parents separated 12 years ago. His father lives in Detroit and his mother in Hamilton. Kline stated that his parents had separated eight years ago.

WEEKLY PRESS

Newspapers and magazines are playing an important part in mobilizing Canada's war effort. Weekly newspapers, humanizing, localizing and interpreting the news, are not least in this essential job of enlisting support for the democratic cause. How much weekly newspapers are doing we realize when we pick up newspapers that we are not accustomed to see each week. We take it for granted in the newspapers we have been reading week by week, but we are very conscious of the war tasks when we pick up less familiar newspapers. This week four excellent newspapers which we do not usually see have reached our desk: Granby (P.Q.) Leader-Mail, a special edition marking 50 years service, Simcoe Reformer, on several occasions rated as the best in Canada among larger weekly newspapers, Campbellton (N.B.) Graphic and Hartland (N.B.) Observer. The Granby Leader-Mail, incidentally, is a fine English-language newspaper serving a bi-lingual city.

BEVERAGE ROOM QUESTION

One or two persons have said that they have been watching for some editorial comment on the projected beverage room question. The truth is that it is just about impossible to discuss such a question without resolving the public into two camps, those who agree and those who disagree with what is said. There is also bound to be a certain amount of bitterness creep into the discussion.

When the question was before our municipality a few years ago, we tried to discuss the question fairly, tolerantly, and vigorously, and we will do so again if it develops definitely that the sponsors allow the town council to act on the petition and necessitate a vote. In other words, no irrevocable step has yet been taken, and we know from conversation with the sponsors that they are ready to spare the town a contest at this time if they become convinced that public opinion is still against beverage rooms and a liquor store (for a vote in favor of a beverage room would be a vote in favor of two or several and also a government liquor store).

Quite a number of persons have spoken to us about the likely result of a vote, and our feeling is that there has been little change in public opinion since the last rather decisive vote. In starting to circulate the petition the sponsors evidently thought that there might have been a change in public opinion. They also knew that there were quite a few newcomers to the town who might or might not favor beverage rooms and a liquor store.

In circulating the petition, and as a result of newspaper reports of securing and presenting the petition, the sponsors have had quite a few comments for and against. Naturally, they would hear more from the "ayes," as we would hear more from the "nays." In taking the last step, that is, permitting the town council to pass its by-law and ask the Ontario liquor control board to set a date, the sponsors will be guided by the public reaction as it has come to them.

We still hope that there won't be a vote on the question at the present time. The question would be fought not only on its ordinary merits but also on its war-time merits—we would have one group of citizens possibly questioning the patriotism of another group. As we write we have before us a circular distributed in Orillia by the Orillia Temperance Federation suggesting that citizens should hesitate before they sign a petition for a vote in that town.

The circular says among other things: "The bringing on of a vote would inevitably mean a heavy expenditure of time, money and effort which could much better be devoted to the various patriotic objects calling for all we can put into them. It would also provoke strong difference of opinion at a time when unity of thought and action is the supreme need of the hour. We cannot think that, with the whole future of civilization at stake and reeling in the balance, it would be your wish to open so controversial a question, and one upon which the people of Orillia have already expressed themselves on several occasions."

The matter has gone beyond the petition stage in Newmarket. Whether there is to be a vote or not now rests with the sponsors. The town council must act unless the sponsors withdraw the petition—which it is quite possible that they may decide it is in the public interest to do.

CONSCRIPTION - - SOME CONSIDERATIONS

Hon. R. B. Hanson, leader of the Conservative opposition, and others are advocating conscription of men for overseas service. We don't know that Mr. Hanson made any no-conscription promises and we can't see that he personally is bound by pledges made by his predecessor in the leadership of the Conservative party. He leads the opposition party and he has not therefore the same responsibility to the public. Dr. Manion's pledges were as to what he would do if elected to office. Prime Minister Mackenzie King, however, is in a different position. He and his party were elected to office. Their pledges were accepted by the public.

Those who say that the pledges are not binding because they should never have been made are giving politicians for all time to come a splendid way out of commitments. Our own thought is that a decision reached when people had time to think is more likely to be sound than one reached in the heat of war.

No circumstances, again in our opinion, have occurred to justify such a radical change in public policy. It is yet to be shown that more men can be secured by conscription than by voluntary enlistment, and it is yet to be shown that Canada can give the most help through raising a huge army. We have seen a million Dutch and Belgian soldiers go down to defeat before a war machine operated probably by a numerically much smaller group of soldiers. We have seen a million Yugoslavs and Greeks go down to defeat before a similar machine.

We have also seen an amazing stand made in Greece by a numerically small but well-equipped group of British soldiers. The war machine will work as well for British soldiers as for German soldiers, but the old bare-hand methods of fighting don't win against 80-ton tanks. A Canadian cabinet minister suggests that Canada may yet have an army of 750,000 men, but could Canada properly equip such an army—could we equip such an army as well as Germany equips her soldiers? Shouldn't Canada's aim be rather to equip her men better than Germany equips hers? In the last war the Allies had the advantage of tanks against the Germans and that superiority of equipment was no small factor in turning the tide in the long struggle.

Another point to remember, in keeping our heads, is that the United States has not yet sent any soldiers into the battle area. When and if the U. S. A. takes that step she will use conscription, it is true, but President Roosevelt still seems to think that his country can make the greatest contribution through the production of war goods. It seems premature for Canadians to talk now of augmenting a volunteer armed force of 200,000 men by conscription. Can we equip the 200,000 with planes, tanks, lorries, gas-masks, guns and more guns?

Let's take an illustration from the newspaper business—which is everybody's business. Every newspaper publisher wants more subscribers and any newspaper publisher can get more subscribers through what is known as a subscription contest (you know, giving away an automobile to the person who gets the most friends and relatives to subscribe for the paper). But few newspaper publishers use that method because experience shows that subscriptions obtained in that way are not likely to be renewed. The subscribers weren't "sold on" the merits of the newspaper, they were just helping a friend. They don't appreciate the paper as much as if they had bought it because they want it, they may not read it, they will probably not renew their subscriptions.

And we can't help thinking that Canada gets the best soldiers when she gets those who want to be in the army or those who have been convinced that they ought to be in the army. Canada's soldiers were inferior to none in the last war, and were superior to most. Why? Was it because Canadian soldiers had reached Europe through voluntary enlistment? Was it because they had answered an appeal voluntarily? Was it because they had been "sold" on the cause for which they were risking their lives?

Incidentally, when and if the U. S. A. launches conscription for overseas service in a large way, we are told that she will attempt to make up for the defects of conscription (it has advantages too) by at the same time putting on an advertising campaign to "sell" the conscripted men on service with the armed forces.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

APPROVE CONSCRIPTION

(Carleton Place Canadian)

Slowly but certainly surely the day is fast approaching when the Canadian government will have to bring in a conscription measure if we are to get a sufficient number of men to fill the ranks necessary for overseas service. Promises were made during the last election campaign that there would be no conscription in this country, but circumstances have altered cases considerably. As the Midland Free Press Herald very aptly puts it: "Conscription of wealth having taken place there is no longer excuse for depending upon the voluntary system for enlistment of men in our fighting forces."

A CERTAIN WARBLER DISREGARDS HIS MOURNING

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"I thought it was rather tiresome sitting on the eggs," Merry Chickadee said to herself, "but these first few days of feeding the new babies are much more exhausting. I simply haven't had a moment to myself for days. And now I've sent Young Chips away for a little leisure, and I'm busier than ever. He should be back soon though.

"I'm quite sure the children have had as much to eat as is good for them, now, and any more would be overdoing it," she said a moment later. "I'll just keep them warm now for a while and rest a bit. Oh, here's Young Chips again already."

"Well, my dear," he greeted her cheerily, "everyone's all right, I hope? I've just had the jolliest time. Everybody you can imagine seems to be flitting about in the woods and meadows these days. I've seen dozens of birds in the last hour, and I've actually been talking to at least five members of the Warbler family. They are a beautiful and gifted lot, aren't they?"

"Oh, do tell me about the ones you saw," begged Merry eagerly. "How I would love to roam around now when the woods are so thickly populated with birds, but I realize that with a young family it's simply out of the question."

"I chatted with a Maryland Yellowthroat — warbler, you know," Young Chips said. "There are a number of them down in the swampy edge of the woods singing their 'witchety, witchety, witchety' song very cheerfully and loudly. They are very handsome birds, too, with that lovely big yellow patch at their throats and the black line across their faces.

"Then I saw several Chestnut-sided Warblers, with their harmonious brownish red, black and white and yellow markings," went on the Chickadee. "They have a nice 'warblerish' song and flit about more than the Yellowthroats seem to do.

"Next, let me see—oh yes, I talked to an American Redstart. He's been back for three weeks, now, and has a loudish, rather raspy song, but he certainly is a beautiful bird, with his black and reddish orange coloring. He's a Warbler, too, and he jumps around dreadfully. You can hardly keep your eye on him long enough to see what he looks like."

"That's only three Warblers," said Merry. "Who were the others?"

"The Black and White Warbler was there," her mate told her. "He has a very high, shrill, raspy call, and always reminds me, as to shape, of our White-breasted Nuthatch friends. Of course, his black and white stripes make him look quite different, though.

"I'm saving the best to the last, and that was the Mourning Warbler," Young Chips continued. "And he is a lovely bird! I had a good look at him, as he stood in one spot in a tall cedar tree and sang for me for 15 minutes."

"How grand!" chirped Merry. "And tell me what he looks like. So many of the Warblers, the Mourning Warbler is a good example, are only around for a few days in the spring and fall, and it's hard to remember what they look like."

"He's got a gorgeous slaty blue head and shoulders and a prominent black band across his chest, contrasted with bright yellow below that. His back and tail, below the blue shoulders, are greenish grey."

"Why in the world is he called the Mourning Warbler, if he's so bright and pretty?" asked Merry.

"Because of the black band of mourning on his breast," explained Young Chips. "It really doesn't seem very suitable for such a gay bird, as you say, and his song is a loud, cheery warble, too. He seems to sing 'Isn't this a lovely world.' So I guess he's not taking his name too seriously."

"What a nice time you must have had seeing all those beautiful feathered friends," murmured Merry enviously. "Did you see anyone else?"

"Oh, dozens," Young Chips assured her. "A Bluebird, Robins, Orioles, Red-eye, the Vireo, and oh, yes, I forgot . . . "

"Who?" inquired Merry quickly.

"I heard a Wood Thrush," he said. "I know it was a Wood Thrush, not because I heard him sing, but because I heard him give his quick, loudish call, a rapid 'quit, quit, quit.' No one else sounds like that.

"The instant I heard him I dashed after the sound, but do you think I could find him? Not a bit of it. He had gone completely, and didn't let another peep out of him. He's a pretty fellow, with a reddish brown back, head and tail and a light breast, heavily spotted with brown. But he's so timid he's rarely seen."

"The Thrushes are such a shy bunch, aren't they?" said Merry. "You must go for another trip through the woods soon again. It's so entertaining for me hearing about the birds you've seen."

BOYS APPRECIATE PARCELS FROM HOME

The following letter has been received by the Newmarket fire brigade from Walter Gilroy, of Newmarket, now in the R.C.A.F. in Newfoundland.

"I wish to thank the Newmarket fire department for the cigarettes that arrived here today. It is nice to know that the people of the old home town think of the boys away from home and Newmarket is more like home to me than any other place I have ever lived.

"We have boys here from all over Canada and as far as I know I am the only one that receives gifts from the people back home.

"Again many thanks to the people of Newmarket for the many parcels which come to me regularly."

The Common Round

RHYTHM

By Isabel Inglis Colville

We hear much more about rhythm these days than when I was young. Then, unless you studied music or danced, rhythm didn't mean a great deal to you.

I think we have, these latter years, become word-conscious. We have departed from the straight and narrow path of Johnson and Webster and added new and exotic and vivid words to our vocabulary.

What was once slang is now commonplace and we'd be hard put to it, not to occasionally make use of the very apt words that once would have been banned as "unladylike." Nowadays we think in terms of rhythm; from the steady march of the training troops to the revolution of the planets in their appointed courses. When I listen to some of the extraordinary music (?) that comes over the air, I find my ear and brain fighting what is often a losing battle, trying to find the rhythm—always supposing there IS a rhythm—which to me appears at times extremely doubtful.

But in the peculiar combinations of minor chords and the mournful wailing of some misguided soul who THINKS he is singing, there is a strange pattern—rhythm, if you will—which leaves the ear dissatisfied and longing for something definite.

But there is something fascinating and compelling about rhythm. I watched some soldiers passing our home today; the heat was intense and they were a pretty hot-looking bunch. But as I watched, somebody started to sing "Mademoiselle from Armentiers," and it was worth while to see how drooping shoulders straightened and heads came up as the melody ran along the line and weary feet caught the rhythmic swing of the old war favorite. I've lived these many years with a husband who is always listening for the rhythm of things. I've heard him talk of the rhythm of the machine which he operates and when we drive, his ear is tuned to catch the slightest variation of the rhythm of the motor.

In war there is rhythm and a sort of satanic symphony — the big guns are tuned to a certain pitch and their discharge is as regular as the beats in a musical composition; the rattle of a machine gun is rhythmic and the beat of the engine on ship and airplane is tuned to a certain pitch, and even an untrained ear can hear when that beat is disturbed.

Listen to waves breaking on the shore—they come with a regular rhythmic rolling, but at regular intervals — I remember counting once and I made it every seventh wave—there came, just like an accent in music, a stronger breaker.

And too, in this war, there is, like a counter melody, the rhythm of the factories, the mines and the shipyards, each tuned to a high pitch, the steady beat of their machinery leading up to the great accented climax, when their productions, perfected, shall swell the instruments which shall lead up to the great finale. Here in safe Canada, our lives are a sort of free fantasia, unfettered by the hard and fast rules which guide the British. There, their lives are like Bach Fugue which is made up of voice and answer—daytime for work, night to the shelters! While, like a mad Tarantella played outside a quiet concert hall, the great guns and bombs play their dance of death; while like heavy accents come the surprises—the descent of the arch-enemy Rudolph Hess, whose hands are stained with the blood of helpless folk, the descent of parachutists and gliders at Crete; and all the crescendos and decrescendos of daily combat. Here, in this peaceful countryside, the lowing of the cattle, the bleat of little lambs, the cello whine of tractors and the voices of men calling to their horses, form a pastoral symphony and one can only hope that when the song of a just victory emerges from the chaos of broken chords, that such a symphony, punctuated by the laughter of little children freed from fear; enlivened by the marching tempo of soldiers finding their way to more peaceful pursuits; of sailors bringing the produce of the world to our doors; and the great sky birds bridging the continents for those who feel that haste is the essence of life; will sound in grander strains than we have yet known. Perhaps, not alone in heaven, but on earth too, we will find the true rhythm of life—"the lost chord" of brotherhood and Christian living!

"Keep Hitler singing, 'It's a long way to Tipperary.' Buy Victory Bonds."

HIGHLIGHTS IN YOUR LIFE LINE

Whenever something unusual happens in your life, almost automatically you reach for your telephone to tell friends about it. Graduations, engagements, weddings, promotions, birthdays, anniversaries — at all such happy times your telephone helps spread the good news!

You find people turning to the telephone with confidence, because year after year it has become more unfailing, more dependable. Cables have replaced open wires! Repeater stations have supplanted earlier devices, enabling one to hear as distinctly across the continent as across the street. That is why in war time the telephone plays so vital a part in the national effort.

All cheese produced in Ontario and Quebec will be exported, until further notice, to Great Britain, it was announced in Ottawa last week. These two provinces produce 93 per cent of Canada's cheese. It was stated that there is sufficient cheese in store to meet present Canadian domestic needs.

Large forces of war-trained soldiers who took part in the east Africa campaign against Italian possessions are now free for service elsewhere, the British war office has stated. They are expected to strengthen greatly the British defence against mounting German thrusts in Africa.

Serbian guerrilla fighters are offering stiff resistance to the Hungarian army of occupation in northern Yugoslavia. Sentries have been killed by snipers, night patrols ambushed and the Hungarians generally given an uncomfortable time. Stiff reprisals are being meted out but the resistance still continues.

Britain's 42,100-ton battle cruiser H.M.S. Hood, the largest warship in the world, was blown to bits in the waters between Greenland and Iceland Saturday by an "unlucky hit" from the new German battleship Bismarck. The shot struck a munitions magazine on the mighty ship. It is believed that more than 1,300 officers and men went down with the ship.

King George of Greece and his government reached Egypt on Sunday after a perilous flight from Crete where he had been a special target of German parachutists landing on the island. His party had been shot at en route by Allied soldiers who thought they were disguised German parachutists.

The 35,000-ton Bismarck, new battleship and pride of the German navy, which sunk the H. M. S. Hood, Britain's largest battleship, on Saturday, was itself sunk by air and sea units of the British fleet on Tuesday. The huge sea raider was hunted down in a relentless chase that started when she dashed out of the Denmark strait on May 23.

Possession of Crete hangs in the balance, with both the British and Germans rushing forces to the strategic island. It is estimated that 18,000 air-borne Nazis have been killed so far. Britain has lost two cruisers and four destroyers in the first great air-naval battle in history.

President Roosevelt told his people and the world on Tuesday night that the United States will fight if necessary to insure the defeat of Germany. Proclaiming that a state of national emergency exists, a step which the president can take only when he believes war to be "imminent," President Roosevelt said that the war is fast approaching American shores.

"Have you decided whether you're going to be a 'have' or a 'have not'?"

"Yes—I run my financial life in a business-like way. I save systematically. There may be illness. I'll want to buy things, help Canada's war effort by buying War Bonds, go on holidays. I save for these things—no matter how small the amount. That's how I'm being a 'have' instead of a 'have not'!"

POLICE COURT

HAD TO KEEP HOUSE, IS FARMER'S EXCUSE

"I don't know if you are too lazy, as Inspector Weatherston suggests that you are, or if you have too much work to do. If you have too much to do, you shouldn't have cattle. Get some other work to do." Thus Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe, in Newmarket police court on Tuesday, admonished William Dunning, Aurora. Mr. Dunning pleaded not guilty to a charge of cruelly treating six cows.

Inspector Gordon Hall of the Toronto Humane Society testified that on May 17, accompanied by Dr. Gordon Leason, he visited the Dunning farm in Aurora. "On my arrival there, I found six cows in the stable, five standing and another one down," he stated. "The five cows which were standing were in very bad condition. The sixth one was in the worst condition. She had open sores on her body and appeared to be sick and in pain. She couldn't outstretch her front legs."

In answer to questions of Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., the witness said: "I questioned the accused if he had a veterinary to the cow and he said that he hadn't. I asked him why he didn't get a doctor and he said he hadn't money."

"Did he say how long the cow was down?" asked the crown.

"Yes, he said that the cow was sick two or three weeks," replied the inspector. He described the animal as having a very large sore on its pelvis and others on its knees about four inches in diameter. He said that there were also two open sores on the animal's chest which appeared to be caused by a home-made brace used to help the cow stand up. On orders from Dr. Leason he said that he shot the cow.

"How about the cleanliness?" the crown asked.

"There was manure piled three feet high against the walls," answered the witness.

Dr. Leason, veterinary of the Toronto Humane Society, testified that when he inspected the animals on May 17 all were in thin condition and lacked bedding. He looked at the sores and the paralyzed legs of the "down cow" and finding that there was no cure for the cow he ordered it exterminated.

"Did you find out what the cows were being fed?" asked Mr. Mathews.

"Yes, they were fed rye grass, which has no food value at all, and a little chop," Dr. Leason replied.

"Was there no straw at all under the sick cow?" asked his worship.

"No, there was no straw at all."

The witness further stated that when he went back on May 19 the manure had been cleaned out of the barn.

"Did you previously visit these premises?" the crown asked.

"Yes, about two or three years ago," replied Dr. Leason. "The cows were in bad condition then and I told him that even if he had little money he could at least keep the animals clean."

According to the testimony of Inspector William Weatherston of the Humane Society, he visited the Dunning farm on May 19 in company with Dr. Leason and found the cows in "very bad condition." "They were cleaned off," the inspector stated. "He (Mr. Dunning) had plenty of straw upstairs but not used. I asked why he did not turn the cows out to pasture and he said that he wanted to have them finish the rye hay before putting them out."

In answer to questions of the crown, the witness said that he had visited the Dunning farm on two or three occasions previously. He said that on March 1, 1939, he warned the defendant to remedy the bad conditions.

"Is there any excuse for the conditions?" asked the crown. "I see no excuse, except plain laziness," Mr. Weatherston replied.

Questioned by defence counsel, Lorne C. Lee, Aurora, Mr. Dunning stated that he had had a great many difficulties, his wife having died four years previously. He said that he had to take care of his child, keep house and look after the farm. He did not know that the "down animal" was going to calf as soon as she did and that when she did she appeared to be well.

"This is the third time the Humane Society has gone to your place?" cross-examined Mr. Mathews. "Yes, and each time I've tried to keep them better," answered the defendant.

"Why didn't you put clean straw under the sick animal?" asked the magistrate.

"I did have some under her, she wasn't on the bare cement."

Merlyn Graham, Aurora, who visited the property of Mr. Dunning on April 28, said that he saw the defendant feed his cattle hay and that the animals were not suffering on that morning.

"You have no business to have a cow in the condition that that animal was," Magistrate Woodliffe told Mr. Dunning. "She was sick and full of sores. If you can't look after the animals you should get rid of them. You were warned twice before. It is cruel to leave a cow lie there in the filth, when there was clean straw to put under her. You are not entitled to a minimum penalty."

As the costs of the prosecution amounted to $24.50, his worship reduced the fine from $15 and costs or 30 days to $10 and costs or 30 days.

William E. Kline and Albert Oldfield, active service men stationed at the military camp in Newmarket, were ordered remanded for sentence until Thursday afternoon. They are to remain in custody in the Don jail pending further investigation into their previous records.

Both men are charged with having stolen a car, the property of Alex. Eves, Newmarket, and of abandoning it after an accident near Guelph.

"On May 15, Mr. Eves reported the loss of his car," testified Chief Constable James Sloss. "On May 16, as a result of a telephone call from Guelph, and accompanied by Mr. Eves, I went to a garage in Guelph where I found Mr. Eves' car partly damaged. Damage amounted to $20. On May 26, I went to the military camp in Newmarket and questioned Albert Oldfield. I gave him the usual caution. At first he would not admit the offence."

The officer stated that he then questioned William Kline, who gave him a statement in which he said "we took the car without the owner's permission while under the influence of liquor. I am very sorry I did it. I will pay the expense." Chief Sloss told his worship that Oldfield signed the statement in jail later. The officer said that Kline told him that the pavement was wet and that they could not avoid damaging the car.

Corporal Duke of the military police told his worship that he brought the men to the Newmarket camp from Toronto, where they had been apprehended by the provost for being absent without leave.

Pleading guilty to charges of bad brakes on his motor-car, John Doake, Zephyr, was fined $10 and costs or ten days. On two other counts, failing to produce his 1941 operator's license and failing to produce his registration certificate, he was remanded for sentence on payment of costs. County Constable William Hill told his worship that Mr. Doake told him that he had forgotten to take his license and certificate with him when he went out driving.

Fred Arthur Fairhead, Todmorden, and Frank Mathews, Toronto, were each fined $10 and costs for having liquor in an illegal place. Both men pleaded guilty to the charges.

Constable Robert Windsor testified that on the night of May 7, he found a bottle of wine in Fred Fairhead's car, which was parked at Musselman's Lake. The officer stated that on the evening of April 12 he took a bottle of wine from Frank Mathews' car, which was standing in a parking lot.

"I don't know why you fellows haven't sense enough not to drink in an illegal place," said his worship. "You only land here in the end. The only place you can drink that stuff is in your own home."

Twenty dollars and costs or ten days was the fine imposed upon Joseph Savage, Weston, who was charged with having caught a quantity of pike at a time prohibited by law. Mr. Savage pleaded guilty.

Constable Ernest Prosser testified that he had been patrolling the Holland Marsh on April 12, in company with Constable Bute, when he came across Mr. Savage and two others, with a bag of pike. The officer stated that the defendant did not have his registration certificate with him and gave his name as William Smith.

The defendant said that he had no intention of deceiving the police officer and that his friend could identify him and knew where he lived. He said that at the time he had his certificate in his car, which was some distance away.

The case of Frederick Roy Yeomans, Toronto, charged with driving in East Gwillimbury while intoxicated and dangerous driving, was adjourned until June 4. Mr. Yeomans was granted bail of $500.

Pleading guilty to having liquor in an illegal place, Roy Lowe and Howard Proctor, Toronto, were each fined $10 and costs or ten days. Constable Hill told his worship that on April 17 he checked the Lowe car. "Lowe admitted having five pints of beer in his car. Both admitted drinking it."

"Where was this at?" asked his worship.

"At Musselman's Lake," replied Constable Hill.

For failing to have his operator's license with him when Constable Hill stopped his car on the eighth concession of Whitchurch, Nat Shapiro, Toronto, was fined $3 and costs.

Six motorists exceeding the speed limit in Aurora were "spotted" by Chief Constable Fisher Dunham. Fined $8 and costs for going 45 miles an hour were Robert F. Elliott, Toronto, Jack Schwandt, Toronto, David Sargent, Milton, Howard Air Conditioning and Heating Ltd., Toronto, and Standard Planing Mills, North Bay. Harry A. Norris, Toronto, was fined $7 and costs for driving at 42 miles an hour through the same town.

Chief Constable James Sloss testified that Mary Jane Parnell and Hazel Gayford, Toronto, drove at 45 miles an hour on Eagle St., Newmarket. Each was fined $8 and costs. Lorne Alexander, Toronto, was fined $5 and costs for speeding on the same street.

William Clark, Toronto, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs for careless driving on No. 11 highway. Constable Alex. Ferguson testified that Mr. Clark had pulled out to pass another car at a time when the road was not clear of approaching traffic.

Drivers charged with having bad brakes on their cars and fined $10 and costs each were: Mrs. Martha Duggan, Schomberg, Norman Archibald, Schomberg, Herbert Martin, Beeton, Thomas Judge, Toronto, and Mrs. Clarence Breen, Queensville.

Mrs. Duggan, who had been driving 15 years, pleaded not guilty to the charge, saying that she was on her way from the garage when Constable Ronald Watt stopped her car on the ninth concession of King. She stated that the garageman had told her that her brakes were in good condition.

"You had better get another garageman," said his worship.

RECTOR RECEIVES GIFT FROM H. M. S. NEWMARKET

The commander of the destroyer H. M. S. Newmarket has sent to Rev. A. J. Patstone, rector of St. Paul's Anglican church, the "captain's pennant," a flag denoting that the ship has been commissioned. The pennant was black with oil smoke, but has been cleaned and is now displayed at St. Paul's.

GET THE FACTS AND YOU'LL GET A FORD!

BIG! RUGGED! ECONOMICAL!

● See what extra value Ford offers this year. It's the roomiest car in its field—greatest inside length and seating width. New frame, springs, ride stabilizer and wheelbase length combine to set a new standard of riding comfort.

Again this year, the Ford has set new official records, in its class, for gasoline economy.

The Ford has hydraulic brakes larger than those of any other car near its price, giving fast, smooth stops with extra-long brake-lining wear.

Get in touch with a Ford dealer, and see what an attractive deal he has to offer.

$35 a month with a reasonable down payment buys any Ford V-8.

In Memoriam

Hadden—In memory of Mrs. Wm. Hadden, who died May 29, 1938.

We do not forget her, we love her too dearly
For her memory to fade from our lives like a dream.
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.

Lovingly remembered by sister Gertie and family.

Hadden—In memory of my dear daughter, Mrs. Wm. Hadden, who died May 29, 1938.

The depths of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.

Ever remembered by Mother.

Hadden—In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Wm. Hadden, who passed away three years ago, May 29, 1938.

As a wonderful mother we think of you,
In memories that are fond and true.
There wasn't a thing too big or too small
That you would not try to do for us all.
Quickly and quietly came the call.
Her sudden death surprised us all.
We have lost but God has gained
One of the best the world contained.

Sadly missed by husband and Mabel.

Hadden—In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Wm. Hadden, who died May 29, 1938.

God called our mother that we loved;

SOLDIERS and VISITORS ALWAYS WELCOME

Not wholly what He's given,
She lives on earth in thought and deed,
As truly as in Heaven.

Sadly missed by Della and Randall.

Prosser—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Johanna Murrell Prosser, who passed away June 1, 1940.

There's a face that is haunting us ever,
There's a voice that we're longing to hear,
There's a smile we'll remember forever,
Though we try to forget every tear.
There's a sad but sweet remembrance,
There's a memory fond and true,
There's a token of affection, dearest mother,
And heartache always for you.

Ever missed and daily thought of by daughters, Ariel, Muriel, Betty, Gladys and Mildred and son, Earl.

Watson—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Roy Watson, who died May 26, 1936.

Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.

Ever remembered by wife and family.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Selby Sedore of Keswick announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian Kathleen, to Frank J. Maw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Maw, Oriole Parkway, Toronto, the marriage to take place June 28, in Keswick United church.

The engagement is announced of Annie Irene Fogal, daughter of Mrs. W. H. Fogal and the late Mr. Fogal of Newmarket, to Francis Douglas Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ross of Columbus, the marriage to take place the latter part of June.

MAE O'DONNELL WED IN TORONTO

A pretty wedding took place at the home of the groom's cousin, Mrs. Frederick Smith, Toronto, last Saturday afternoon, when Mae Elizabeth O'Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Donnell, of Newmarket, became the bride of James Peter Polland, youngest son of Mrs. Agnes Polland and the late William Polland of Toronto.

Pink and white carnations and palms decorated the home for the occasion. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. O. Johnston of Toronto.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. George Scott, was lovely in a gown of powder blue crepe with three-quarter length sleeves, trimmed with jewels and gold braid trimming, blue accessories, and wearing a corsage of pink roses, sweet peas and baby's breath. The bride was attended by Mrs. Mary Hancock, sister of the groom, who wore a pale blue dress with blue accessories and a corsage of sweet peas and baby-breath. Mr. John Polland of Toronto, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held. Mrs. Smith in navy blue crepe dress, assisted by Mrs. George Rowland, aunt of the bride, received with the bridal couple.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hancock, Mr. and Mrs. Lyall Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross, Miss Frankie Hancock, Mrs. Agnes Polland, Mr. and Mrs. John Polland, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnston, Miss Lillian Baker and Mrs. George Rowland, all of Toronto.

WAR VICTIMS BENEFIT

The British war victims' fund was the winner in a mixed bowling tournament at the Newmarket club on Saturday afternoon. The prize of $8 went to the fund while the honors went to J. O. Little's rink, which included Mrs. R. D. Brown, Mrs. Robt. Large and Vaughan Goring.

GLEN LEPARD TAKES OVER DANCE PAVILION

Glen Lepard, of Newmarket, has leased the Embassy Pavilion at Southampton and presents his dance band, "Don Hilton and his orchestra," every Saturday evening from 7 to 7.30 standard time over CFOS, Owen Sound, in the "Seven O'clock Swing Club."

The orchestra features Phyllis Marshall, Toronto girl, and Mr. Lepard is announcer.

FIREMEN OPERATE WHEN FIRE PROVES OBSTINATE

A car owned by a Toronto man caught fire while parked on Main St. in front of Alec's restaurant Sunday night and a large crowd of onlookers collected.

After making an unsuccessful attempt to put out the blaze by use of a fire extinguisher, the firemen pulled out the front seat cushion and let it burn itself out on the street. It is believed that either a lighted cigarette or the car battery set fire to the cushion.

BOWLERS AID BOMBED

The first tournament of the bowling season was held on the local greens on Saturday afternoon and it was greatly enjoyed. Each of the 22 members present paid 25 cents and the proceeds of $5.50 were donated to the British war victims' fund.

Club members reported that the greens are in the best shape for this time of the year that they have been for many years.

CHINESE FOOD

By DELPHINIUM

In the March number of "China's Millions," the organ of the China Inland Mission, is an interesting article by Mrs. Hazelton, Shansi province, answering the question so often asked the missionaries by people at home: "What do the Chinese eat?"

While the staples are rice, noodles and millet—the main part of every meal—yet many of the needed food values and vitamins are provided from other sources. There is usually one tasty vegetable at least and fats and oils from other sources help to make a balanced ration.

Fruits and vegetables such as we have here are grown locally in many parts of China. The country being so vast, and with such a variety of temperature and altitude, may not produce such a variety, but there can almost always be found food enough, even if not very delectable.

Mrs. Hazelton and her Bible woman were walking along a narrow path beside a wheat field in early spring. The wheat looked good enough to eat, and Mrs. Hazelton asked her woman to point out to her the grasses and weeds that could be used as vegetables, remarking that during the Boxer uprising if the missionaries who had to flee to certain districts had not known what forms of vegetation were edible, they might have died of starvation.

In the early spring, when Mrs. H. made her headquarters in a Chinese village, as she went out on her itinerary she would see children up in the tall cottonwood trees picking the young tender leaves. When brought home the mothers would plunge the leaves into pots of boiling water, or spread them out in the sun to dry for winter use. Mrs. H. says, "We sampled a dish of the cooked leaves and found them not at all disagreeable."

Now that vegetables are more difficult to obtain because of war or drought the missionaries are following the Chinese in seeking out roots and leaves for food.

Bamboo sprouts sound like asparagus, but few foreigners know that the shoots and flowers of the acacia or locust tree, wisteria blossoms, elm seeds, a golden lily of China and many others are widely eaten by the Chinese.

Eating between meals, while considered by us taboo, is found to provide necessary nourishment when certain things are eaten.

Malt candy in sticks, covered with sesame seeds, is given to people who are ill or convalescing as containing nourishment. Roasted beans, parched corn, peanuts and seeds of all kinds, may always be found at two handfuls for a copper and make pleasant between-meal eating. "We found sunflower and squash seeds particularly tasty," the writer says, "though we never became as expert as our Chinese friends in cracking the seeds with the teeth and extracting the kernel with the tongue, but they did help to make a long cart journey pleasant." Melon seeds are one of the frequent parts of a feast.

Early in the present war in China, when communication became more difficult, the missionary housewife began to think and plan along these lines and by talking over these things with the Chinese housewives found many food requirements to make up a balanced diet.

She began to substitute malt syrup for sugar in cooking—corn syrup here—to make coffee from bran and to use certain seaweed, rich in iron, calcium and iodine, as a vegetable. Bean sprouts, bean curd, bamboo shoots and lotus roots make appetizing and nourishing additions to meals.

Other substitutes are being used: peach leaves to give an almond flavor, or the kernels of sweet or bitter apricots used as nuts or as almond paste, or a bit of dried orange peel added to a small apple-like food, produce a marmalade for breakfast.

I am leaving the soy bean and its varied uses till the last. We know the soy bean bread loaf now, but these beans have been known to China and used as food since — in Chinese legends — the agricultural age under Emperor Sheng Ming, B.C. 2737! It is a Chinese saying that bean milk and bean curd are the poor man's milk and meat, and even the despised millet called "the poor man's food" is found to be far richer in certain vitamins and proteins than either rice or milled flour.

In early days of our Chinese missions I heard missionaries speak of bean curd and soy sauce, some even used soy bean milk, though those who could get cows' milk were slow to try the soy bean milk. Now it is found to be equal to, if not better than, cow's milk. Two baby lambs, whose mothers had been killed by the invading soldiers, were raised on the bean milk. The way they went for the bottles of bean milk and the pounds they added to their bodies left no doubt as to its nourishing qualities.

In Pekin Union Medical Hospital the doctors are experimenting with raising new-born babies on bean milk and find it superior to cow's milk and nearly as good as mothers' milk. It can be produced more cheaply, is free from tuberculosis, and its casein breaks down more easily so as not to form curds in the stomach.

So the soy bean is the salvation of China as to its food supply. Please, what we want to know is how to make soy bean curd and milk and how to use bean sprouts. A few recipes please may help us win the war.

Down the Centre will be found on Page 8.

District Rebekah Lodges Hear Provincial President

Representatives of all Rebekah lodges in the district gathered in the I.O.O.F. hall on Monday evening to greet Mrs. Betty Dundas of London, Ont., president of the provincial Rebekah Assembly.

Sister Vera Ashton of Aurora, district deputy president, welcomed the president, as did Sister M. Davis of Toronto, past provincial president, and Bro. Frank Culverwell of Sutton.

Mrs. Dundas told the gathering "that never before was there such an opportunity for doing good as there is today." She urged her listeners "to weed from our souls all seeds of selfishness in this crisis. We all have a part to play in bringing about better Canadianism."

Sister B. Churchill of Newmarket, N. G. of the Newmarket lodge, spoke briefly, and Sister E. Boyd of Newmarket presented the district deputy, Mrs. Ashton, with a cushion.

Sister A. Clark of Sutton also spoke, and D. D. P. Vera Ashton, on behalf of the district, presented Mrs. Dundas with a beautiful green vase in honor of the occasion.

MISSED ONE JULY 12 PARADE IN 70 YEARS

Major W. H. Taylor, Wellington St., quietly celebrated his 78th birthday on May 24.

For the second time in 54 years, Mr. Taylor will not be able to attend the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario West meeting, which will be held this year at St. Thomas. He has not been feeling well the past few months. However, he will attend a meeting here on Saturday of the county Orange lodge, of which he has been secretary continuously for 36 years.

He also has his eye pointed to the 12th of July celebration in Mount Albert. Since the age of eight he has been attending the annual Orange walk and in all that time has only missed participating in one parade.

Major Taylor is very proud of the record of Orangeism during the Great War and in the present struggle.

"Figures are not yet available but I know that our present enlistments are up to those during the same period in the last war," he said. "No organization will have contributed more members from its ranks."

Major Taylor, who was major of the 12th York Rangers and for many years regimental sergeant-major of the unit, regrets that the department of national defence has not as yet called up the county battalion for active service. His son-in-law, Pte. Robert Hodgkinson, of the Yorks, is now on active service at the Hamilton trade training centre.

Fair Sex Invades Tannery To Do Bit

Something by way of innovation in the local leather industry has taken place with the hiring by the Collis Leather Co. of two young Elgin Mills lassies for the finishing department. The girls are replacing employees who have left their jobs and gone elsewhere and according to Lees Owram, secretary-treasurer of the firm, other girls are likely to be added to the staff at the plant.

Girls have been employed in other tanneries in Ontario as finishers, ironers, measurers and in the shipping department, and are said to have proved just as efficient at the job as their male counterparts.

While refusing to comment on the questions of just how many girls would be hired and whether or not it interfered with routine, Mr. Owram thought the novelty would soon wear off and that it would be a regular thing from now on for women to take positions in the trade for which they are fitted.

"The experience to date has proved satisfactory here," he said. "The positions which girls may fill in a tannery are limited to a great extent, but it would appear the fair sex are in this field to stay."

Three more girls from Richmond Hill and Toronto started work at the factory within the last couple of days.

Organize Victory Loan With Linton As Local Chairman

Following meetings held Tuesday and last Friday evenings, Aurora's plans for the Victory Loan campaign are well under way.

Councillor Ross Linton was named as chairman of the local committee, which consists of P. M. Thompson, B. E. Hambly, Ed. Warren, Ross Linton, Dr. E. J. Henderson, Lees Owram, C. E. Lundy and Dr. James L. Urquhart.

W. J. Sisman is one of the regional vice-presidents for North York and Mayor Frank Underhill is a member of the central executive under Capt. Aubrey Davis of Newmarket. On Wednesday evening representatives of the Aurora committee gathered in Newmarket to discuss the general campaign with their North York confreres.

Canvassers named for the town of Aurora are Mayor Frank Underhill, Reeve C. A. Malloy, and B. E. Hambly.

Patrick Cannon Dies In Eighty-Second Year

Patrick Cannon, 81, who resided all his life on the family farm south of Aurora in King township, was buried at St. John's cemetery, Newmarket, on Friday, following mass at St. John's church.

His parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cannon, had resided on the farm from the time of their marriage, 97 years ago, until their deaths. Surviving are a brother, James, Aurora, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Creedon, Toronto.

MINISTER ACCEPTS LOCAL CHARGE

AURORA RIDER DOES WELL IN BIG RACE

Bob Benville of the Aurora Cycling club rode in the 25-mile C.W.A. race at High Park, Toronto, on Saturday, and battling against the pick of Ontario riders and misfortune, finished 14th among a field of 50 riders, representing the finest clubs in eastern Canada and New York State.

His parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cannon, had resided on the farm from the time of their marriage, 97 years ago, until their deaths. Surviving are a brother, James, Aurora, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Creedon, Toronto.

Until the 10-mile mark Benville, a class B rider, was up with the leaders, when he suffered a bad spill, which cost him three minutes in time and a bent wheel. Recovering from this he suffered a spill at the 13-mile mark, when a rider from the Houting club cut him off. Despite all this he finished strongly and was the first class B rider to cross the finish line.

STOLEN CAR IS FOUND DAMAGED

Last Thursday night a car owned by Mr. Ramsay, an employee of McColl-Frontenac, was stolen from its parking spot on Wellington St. outside the Queen's hotel. Eversley strawberry festival is dated for June 25.

RAVENSHOE

Ravenshoe Says Thanks To Holborn Family

The sacrament of baptism was administered at the United church on Sunday afternoon when the minister, Rev. Gordon Lapp, baptized 11 children. A congregation of 100 was in attendance and the choir, under the leadership of Mrs. William King, sang "Mothers of Salem" as an anthem.

The children baptized were Louise Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Glover, Ronald Ernest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mitchell, Reagh Holborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Munroe King of Sutton, Carol Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Mahoney, Reta Claire and Robert Walter, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mahoney, Florence Josephine, Eleanor Elizabeth, Freda Miriam, Ruth Marjorie and Thomas Edwin, daughters and son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bosworth.

There was a large turn-out for the Women's Association supper at the United church last Wednesday. Earlier in the afternoon the Woman's Missionary Society, under the presidency of Mrs. Elmer Hamilton, held a meeting. Following the supper there was a brief worship service and a program in the church. Rev. Gordon Lapp led the worship and presided. Misses Evelyn King and Mary Vanstone sang solos, Mrs. E. J. Bosworth and Miss Winnifred Glover contributed readings, while Marion and Beth King played piano solos.

On behalf of the people of Ravenshoe United church, Mrs. Merton Rutledge then read an address to Mr. and Mrs. William Holborn, lately removed to Keswick. Russell Glover made presentation of a mantel clock. Mr. and Mrs. Holborn were taken completely by surprise but made fitting replies in thanking their friends.

The address cited the years of work and service which Mr. and Mrs. Holborn had given the church and was signed by Mrs. Elmer Hamilton, for the Women's Association, Merton Rutledge, superintendent of the Sunday-school, Lea Glover, president of the Young People's Union, Bert Cole, for elders, Russell Glover and Wm. King, for stewards, Gordon Lapp, the minister.

Mrs. Wm. Crowder was out to church on Sunday after being in the house most of the winter with a lame knee.

VIVIAN

YOUNG PEOPLE ENJOY PICNIC AND SLIDES

Rev. W. S. Irwin of Ballantrae and Lemonville United churches was the special speaker at the Young People's meeting last Wednesday evening.

Quite a large number were present and enjoyed the fine message Rev. Mr. Irwin delivered on "Peter's Vision."

The meeting was presided over by Frank Allen. Earl Grose led in the opening prayer and Ruth Emmerson gave a reading.

During the service Rev. Mr. Irwin also sang a couple of lovely solos and played his guitar.

Frank Allen closed the meeting with prayer.

The prayer meeting was held in the church on Friday evening. This week the meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell.

A large number attended the Young People's picnic on Saturday, when they gathered down by the school creek. They spent the afternoon playing ball. The weather turned too cool to have supper outside, so all gathered in the church basement. In the evening, lantern slides were shown of Bible pictures. Mr. Rowan spoke briefly as the pictures were being shown.

On Sunday evening, Mr. Soper, a young man who is leaving soon for Australia as a missionary, delivered a very fine message to quite a large congregation on "The God of this world," II Cor. 4: 4.

Mr. Rowan led in the service and Garfield Brown sang a lovely solo.

The Sunday-school convention for Whitchurch township was held at Churchill on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Quite a number in the community are suffering from bad colds.

Why CANADA MUST BORROW $600,000,000

A Statement by the Minister of Finance

In money alone, this war is costing Canada in round figures, $4,000,000 a day. That is three and one-quarter times the daily cost of the last year of the last war. This conflict costs so much more because it is a battle of giant, swift machines . . . as well as of men. And to build other than the very best machines would be futile. They must be worthy of our men.

Canada dare not . . . and will not . . . sacrifice men for lack in quality or quantity of fighting machines. Hence we must produce them on a scale hitherto undreamed of.

To do this, Canada needs now to borrow from her citizens at least $600,000,000 in addition to the revenue raised by taxes. To obtain this money Canada will on June 2nd offer Victory Bonds.

Fortunately, Canadians have the money to buy these Victory Bonds. This is shown by a greatly expanded national income and by record savings deposits.

If every person who has savings or who can make payments out of wages or income will invest in Victory Bonds, the Loan will be quickly subscribed. But the wholehearted support of every citizen is necessary.

What Canadians have done before, Canadians can and will do again. Our population was less than nine millions in 1918 and 1919. Yet in November, 1918, our people invested $616,000,000 in Victory Bonds. Eleven months later, in October, 1919, they invested $572,000,000. The total subscribed for Victory Bonds in those two loans was $1,188,000,000. This year, with our population increased to more than twelve millions, the nation that did it before can do it again—and in greater measure.

The terms of the Loan will be announced May 31st. Get ready to buy every Bond that you can.

PEPPER AND SALT

By PEP

Prospects of having a Newmarket softball team this year are as bright as Rochester's complexion. Only three men turned out for the softball meeting at Doug. Trivett's last Tuesday night and they decided that as far as they were concerned the whole thing could go hang. So, it appears that the Redmen will give up the ghost for this year at least.

It may be that Newmarket people are too busy to bother with playing or seeing softball this year, for this was the second meeting called. It may be that, now that the war is striking home, they aren't interested in sports. I don't know.

I do believe, however, that Newmarket fans, at least, want to see the Redmen play softball this year because once the games begin it takes a lot to keep people away from them. A baseball game, more than anything else, gives a man a chance to blow off steam and relax at the same time. At times, it seems many a man's enjoyment of a ball game is evenly divided between watching the players perform and calling the players names. It's too bad we have to lose that happy medium this year.

"Terrible, that's the word for it," said Alex. Webster when this reporter asked him what the Newmarket ladies' softball prospects were like this year. "You just can't get anyone out to practise," said Alex. "You can say it all in that one word 'terrible'."

Asked where the team will play this year if there is a team, Alex. said that the girls would play their contests at the Stuart Scott school grounds and not at the fair grounds as originally planned. "We have practised at the fair grounds a couple of weeks and you just can't do a thing with the soldiers there," he declared.

Alex. asked me to ask the ladies whether they have "all turned pansies." If not, why aren't they turning out to practise? Hundreds of local fans, and I do mean hundreds, want Newmarket to have a ladies' softball team this year. They enjoy watching the girls play the game just as much as they do the boys. So, let's get industrious, eh girls?

Softball practices are held by Manager Webster at the Stuart Scott grounds every Wednesday and Friday nights. It won't be long until the season opens and there is still time to whip up a strong contending team from local girls. Maybe it can be whipped up like many of the girls whip up cream pies that are strong contenders for any baking contest.

Tennis courts in town are in full swing, the Newmarket tennis courts, among others, being open. Right now is the best time of the year to play the game that Tilden made famous, or at least more famous. Tennis courts during the middle of summer are good places to fry eggs, and not always chicken eggs.

SCHOOLS HOLD FIELD MEET AT MT. ALBERT

Pupils from 13 of East Gwillimbury's public schools took part in a sports day program at Mount Albert community park last Friday.

Undaunted by gray skies overhead and a drizzle of rain, trucks and carloads of children began to arrive shortly after nine o'clock. By 10.30 everything was under way, beginning with the boys throwing a five-pound shot put.

Events continued throughout the day until the last high jump was made after six o'clock. The Red Cross refreshment booth was well patronized by the children.

Following is a list of the winners in the various classes. These children are privileged to enter in the field meet at Richmond Hill on June 6 and compete with others from all parts of the inspectorate. Garnet Caster, teacher at Sharon public school, was convenor of the meet.

QUEENSVILLE

SCHOOL CHOIRS WILL HOLD MUSIC FESTIVAL

On Friday evening of this week, at 7.30 p.m., standard time, a festival of music will be held in Queensville United church by the public school choirs of the surrounding villages, under the direction of Mrs. Marie Draper Lyons. Those who have attended in former years have enjoyed these fine musicales very much and this year's concert will be bigger and better than ever. Proceeds will go to a war fund.

Deep regret is felt over Mrs. Lyons' departure from this district. Mr. and Mrs. Lyons are moving to Scarboro. Mrs. Lyons started music instruction in the schools of this district several years ago and her loss will be felt considerably. Mrs. Lyons has worked tirelessly with other local teachers to promote better music.

An impressive empire youth service was held in Queensville United church last Sunday. A young people's choir, under Mrs. J. L. Smith, offered appropriate music. Pte. Harold Cornish of the Newmarket training camp delivered an impressive sermon on youth's problems.

A good number attended Y.P.U. on Sunday night, when the meeting was in the charge of the culture department. Harold Garrett of the Newmarket high school was the special speaker and was enjoyed by all. Next Sunday night the Keswick Y.P.U. will be guests and will furnish the program.

Weekend visitors at the Pegg home were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Pegg and three sons, of Caledonia, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pegg, of Beeton, and Mr. Clifford Pegg and Miss Thelma Stuart, of Toronto.

Mrs. J. A. Aylward has returned to her home here after spending some time in Nova Scotia. Her many friends are pleased to see her again.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sennett of Whitby spent Saturday at the Norris home.

Mr. Leonard Case and Miss Jean Smith spent the weekend visiting in Oshawa.

Mrs. A. R. MacKenzie spent last week with her daughter in Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stickwood and son, of Madoc, spent last weekend at the Stickwood home here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Noble from Lindsay spent Monday with the Norris family.

Weekend visitors at the Watson home were Mr. and Mrs. Ross Watson of Cobourg, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watson of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Watson of Willowdale.

Mr. H. Hulse and Miss Pearl Gynne attended the funeral on Monday of Mr. Alfred Potter, who died last week in Toronto. Mr. Potter was well known here.

Mrs. Hugh Shannon is home from the hospital and is steadily improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cowieson of Toronto were weekend guests of Mrs. J. T. Cowieson.

Fire, caused from a spark from the chimney, lighting on the roof threatened the lovely Bayview lodge of Mrs. Boag last Saturday afternoon. The alarm was sounded and help arrived in time to check the blaze. Part of the roof and attic was burned but most damage was caused by smoke and water. A high wind raged and in another five minutes the whole building would have burned.

A JOLLY SPOT

By GOLDEN GLOW

Gorham St. has become one of the jolliest spots in town. A friend and I were out that way the other evening and we enjoyed every minute. We dropped in for a chat with Mr. and Mrs. Basil Watson, who recently moved to John Lister's place, near what in my young days we called "Bogart's Woods," and in our estimation was just about "tops" for picnics and things. It is just this side of the old Gorham cemetery, beside Dr. Edwards' beautiful new home, across the road from Mrs. Winans, the delightful red brick homestead of the Davis family, her father. To say I was pleased with my trip is saying it very mildly.

I was always keenly interested in our friends' venture in raising sheep dogs (Newmarketers well know the fame of Alex the Great), but now they have acquired this wonderful place for their "Valelose Kennels" and I foresee they will branch out and have ample space for all their needs.

"Lady" and "Alex the Great," that splendid pair of sheep dogs, looked as if they, too, appreciated their new quarters. There was a splendid red setter (maybe I am wrong about the breed), but a handsome big dog up there for a "beauty parlor" treatment, a shampoo and a manicure. Yes, I mean it, a manicure! I was terrifically interested in hearing of a special instrument for trimming dogs' toe-nails, and the electric hair-cutters.

But the surroundings are perfect. The clear, sparkling stream that flows from Bogarttown with its neat little cement bridge, and farther up on the driveway to Dr. Edwards' new residence is another splendid bridge over the same picturesque stream. Beautiful trees, natural and cultivated—but still very reminiscent of my early days and of my love for Bogarts' woods.

KESWICK

Softball Opens At Keswick, League Going

Six children were baptized at the morning service of the United church last Sunday. They were Richard Paul Rye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rye, James William Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Pollock, Ivan Milford and Glen Walton Rye, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Rye, Floyd Grant King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman King, Sandra Sherlene Sheridan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Sheridan of Newmarket. Mrs. Sheridan was formerly Helen Stickland of Keswick.

The United church Young People's Union has accepted an invitation to visit the Queensville Union next Monday evening. Mrs. C. H. Vaughan was the visiting speaker last Monday and her subject was "Fellowship in Worship." Mr. Ewart VanNorman presided and Miss Dorothy White read the lesson. Miss Helen Smith was at the piano for the worship period.

The June supper of the United church Women's Association, the last supper before the summer interval, will be held Thursday, June 5. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

In the afternoon of the same day, Thursday, the June meeting of the association will be held. Mrs. Davison, president, requests a full attendance in order to handle important business.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cameron, from Minnesota, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. King.

Many cottages were opened over the holiday weekend. Saturday was rather chilly but, on the whole, the cottagers had quite good weather and enjoyed what was for many of them the first stand of the season.

The softball season opens at Keswick next Wednesday evening when Mount Albert engages the locals. This will be a regular Lake Simcoe league game.

Some work has been done on the north wall and tower of the United church, preparatory to new plaster being put on. Some repairs to the joists under the floor on the north side and to the eaves will also be undertaken in addition to the plastering.

Meanwhile the Women's Association of the church has undertaken to move the organ from its present location to the south side of the choir loft. The necessity of this change has been felt for some time.

Mr. Walter Walker of Toronto has been a guest in the community for a few days.

The United church services on Sunday will be at the usual hours, with the minister, Rev. Gordon Lapp, in charge.

The regular monthly meeting of the United church Women's Association will be held in the Sunday-school room on Thursday, June 5, at 3 p.m., standard time. The president would like all the ladies to attend as there are a number of business items to be discussed. A supper will be served at 5.30 p.m. The convenors are Mrs. Shortreed, Mrs. Gable and Mrs. Selby Sedore.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Morton over the holiday were Mrs. Morton's son and daughter, Joseph and Helen Hutchinson from Toronto, Mr. Colin Meads and Mr. Roy Boulard.

J. A. Morton is still in the Western hospital, Toronto, but is expected to be home sometime this week. He is much improved.

Mrs. C. Jefferys and Mrs. Winters were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Rigler over the holiday. Friends of Mrs. Jeffreys were glad to see her in Keswick again.

KESWICK GIRL IS MAY BRIDE

Deer Park United church chapel, Toronto, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday, May 10, when Evelyn Ruth Herbert, daughter of Mr. Herbert Kay of Keswick, and the late Mrs. Kay, became the bride of Harold A. Mark, son of Mrs. Allan A. Mark of Toronto, and the late Mr. Mark.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. John McKay, was attended by Mrs. Alma Blackstock. Mr. Peter Simpson was best man. Dr. G. Stanley Russell conducted the ceremony.

Following the reception the couple left for a motor trip to Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec.

On their return they will live at Centre Island for the summer.

GARDEN IS SCENE OF PRETTY WEDDING

A lovely garden wedding took place at the home of Mr. William Risebrough, Mount Albert, when his granddaughter, Gladys Viola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Lunau, was united in marriage with Freeman Leslie Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stephens, Sutton West, on Saturday afternoon.

The wedding took place amidst a bower of lilacs, Rev. Austin E. Lunau, great-uncle of the bride, who had married the bride's father and mother, performing the ceremony, assisted by Rev. R. V. Wilson, B.A., B.D.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a graceful gown of baby blue net over taffeta. Her finger-length tulle veil, in the same shade, fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of roses. Her cousin, Mary Joyce, of Toronto, in pale pink sheer with blue hat and bouquet of yellow roses, was bridesmaid. Mr. William Stephens was his brother's groomsman. Mrs. A. E. Lunau played the wedding music and Miss Jean Risebrough, Uxbridge, sang during the signing of the register.

At the reception afterward, Mrs. Ernest Lunau received in a gown of aqua French crepe with corsage of carnations and Mrs. Stephens wore navy sheer and corsage of sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Later, with the good wishes of about 60 guests, the bride and bridegroom left on a short motor trip, the bride wearing a navy, pin stripe, tailored suit with rose accessories. On their return they will live in Sutton West.

To Citizens of the Township of North Gwillimbury

PROCLAMATION

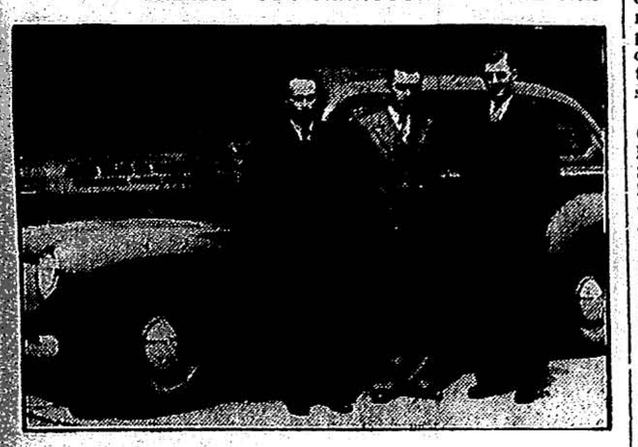

Whereas we, the reeve, the deputy-reeve and councillors of the Township of North Gwillimbury, are cognizant of the tremendous money cost of the war to the Dominion of Canada, the immediate and urgent need for trained men in all branches of war service, also the call for ever increasing production of munitions and equipment.

Inasmuch as we believe it to be sound financial procedure for the nation to borrow from its citizens and we are pleased to recall that the people of this municipality have never failed to give strong support to any form of patriotic effort during the present war or the war of 1914-1918.

We, therefore, place on record our enthusiastic and heartfelt commendation of the 1941 Victory Loan Campaign. We ask citizens to regard the purchase of the bonds as an investment necessary to protect all they now possess. We urge the public during this campaign to give the canvassers who will call a cordial reception and make loans to the nation and empire to the limit of their ability.

TOP RANK PLOWMEN LEAVE ON "SALADA" TEA TRANSCONTINENTAL TRIP

The International Plowing Match held at St. Thomas last year set a new record in the number of entries and attendance. The most coveted prize offered was that for the special class sponsored by the Salada Tea Company and open to all horse plowmen in Jointer Plow sod classes, who had qualified at branch matches—a six weeks' motor trip to the west coast and back.

It is a coincidence that the trip, along with the gold and silver medals for first and second prizes in this class, was won by two neighbour plowmen, John Lister (left) and Harold Picket (right) both of Hornby, Ontario. Their journey was planned under the guiding hand of J. A. Carroll, manager of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, and will take them to areas of agricultural interest in the United States and Canada from Toronto to Vancouver. Gordon McGavin (centre), another well-known plowman, of Walton, will accompany the winners as guide, companion and manager.

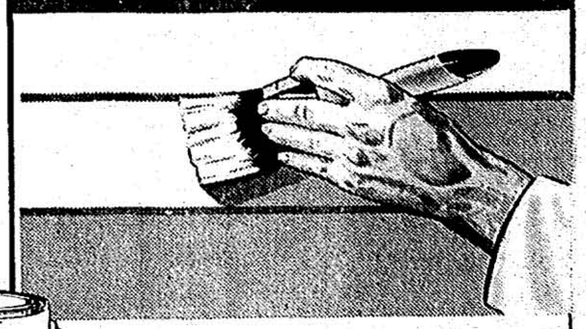

The trip should prove intensely interesting and of great educational value to these three lucky plowmen.

You'll be prouder of a truly white home!

DOWN THE CENTRE

Norman Mabley, who turned in a fine effort the past season with the Aurora junior hockey club, and who was a member of last year's Richmond Hill Roses softball team, has heard the call of the colors and joined the R.C.A.F. It was Mabley's last season in junior hockey and he made it a good one. He will be missed greatly by Hill softballers, for he was just developing into one of the best outfielders in the York-Simcoe loop.

Markham Aces received wristwatches and windbreakers from the club for their winning effort in junior C this year, while the village kicked in with a banquet and dance to round out the affair. Strangely enough, the only club in the group to be represented was Sutton, with Uncle Frank Culverwell doing the honors at the banquet for the other three clubs.

Charlie Nesbitt, who did a fine job for Bradford O.R.H.A. champs, has departed for Toronto and he and his wife were honored by his team-mates with a handsome occasional chair recently.

Art Consaul, whom you will remember as the stand-out goalie with Barrie Colts two seasons ago, and who last year was with Bill Hancock in Perron, Quebec, reports this month to Newmarket training centre for duty. Artie, who is a pretty smart ball player, will likely do duty with Sgt. Haney's softballers. Incidentally, Paul Paquette, who has been a teammate at both Barrie and Perron and also a high-class performer in hockey, at about the same time reports in with the recruits at North Bay training camp.

Del. Beaumont of this year's junior team is a fine ball player according to all reports and will likely seek a berth with Manager Len Simmons' squad. Del. was very popular with the fans and should be a welcome addition.

Bob Hillis, junior hurler of last year, is being banked heavily upon by the Aurora management to make the grade in intermediate competition and the tip-off is out that he stands a fair chance of surprising everyone. His work to date in practice has been very promising and he'll be carried on the squad for a certainty. Young fellows just coming up are to be given a real trial this season, according to club policy, and the management would certainly like to see a flock more out to practice. It is a policy sadly neglected around the whole circuit, with drastic results in most cases.

Alex. Murray passed on last month at Thorold, a comparitively young man. That may not mean much to many of our readers but those who remember the North York sporting scene of immediate post-war days will well recall the dynamic bank manager who was a red hot sports booster and promoter. Lacrosse and hockey were his special fields, for in his younger days he had been a great player at both sports in western Ontario. At Woodstock he had been associated with the great Woodstock hockey teams of the Bill Carson vintage. He brought to Aurora both knowledge of sports, ability to organize, and he was not afraid to back the teams financially, either.

What a great set-up that was for sports here, with his fellow bank manager, H. L. Alcorn, at the Montreal, just as rabid a sportsman, and a little later, Alex. Kirkwood, at the newly formed Commerce, giving baseball a boost. "A. O." was perhaps the best known of these three in days which saw such athletes as Kid Harman, Pete Machell, Dutch Cain, Paul Dubrule, Paddy Richards, Dooley Butler, Glen Brown, Hec. Gordon, and countless others wearing the Aurora colors in one sport or other—colorful figures of a day that for real he-man, star-scintillating, color-packed performers does not seem likely to return again to small-town Ontario.

By hundreds of sportsmen throughout Ontario Alex. Murray will be remembered as one who at all times played the game, be it in sport or in daily life—who of us can ask for more from our fellows?

Aurora golfers are readying themselves to do their bit for the British war victims' fund at a date near or around May 24. The hockey and badminton clubs have already done their part, and as the sports scene changes the boys are all lining up to help out in some way or other.

Doug. Gillespie, the Orangeville nemesis to Aurora junior hockeyists of 1937-38, who is a star with the gutted stick and has played senior B with the Dufferins, will take the floor this year for Murray Scrutton's Etobicoke Indians in the senior O.A.L.A. Doug., since Orangeville days, has played hockey with Runneymede C.I. and with Marlboro juniors via the Maple Leaf reserve list.

Gill Bailey, who was a star athlete at Newmarket high about 15 years back in track, baseball, football and hockey, became a benedict over the weekend.

St. Andrew's college held their annual field day yesterday and some fine performances were turned in. Saturday the track team journeys to Orillia for the district track meet and the red and white should give a good account of themselves. Newmarket high school and Pickering will be represented, we understand, but Aurora school-boy athletes are not taking part, according to Principal J. H. Knowles.

Art Crean, one of the Richmond Hill outfielders of last year, is working out for the pitching box which doesn't exactly look as if Manager Charlie Ryan had that abundance of pitching strength reputed to be on hand a few weeks back.

Big news of the week, and we do mean big news, is the word from Doug. Trivett that the famous Newmarket Bedmen, always a leading contender and the most spirited ball club in the local loop, will not be in action this year. The news comes as a bombshell to the league but is not entirely in the unexpected class in view of rumors of the past two weeks.

Available for duty who could be counted as sure performers were outfielders Gibney and Herb Cain. From the infield, Jack Luck, Speedy Giles, Pee-Wee Hilton and Doug. Trivett, from the mound staff, only Lefty Glover and of the catchers, Charlie VanZant, who is now working in Bradford, are possibilites. The losses in strength were Bill Burkholder and Jack Gibbon, catchers, Wes Niles, ace hurler of the squad, who is in camp, Bob Peters, retired, Bud Bulmer and Arnold Tomblinson.

Charlie Holmes, the man behind the gun, is in Stratford, Joe Spillette and Frank Courtney have had enough and so with their old playing field gone and the town leaning towards hardball in the town league set-up, it was hard to find willing executives and sufficient players for a winning combination. Boasting the best competitive record of any of the teams since the inception of the league, the sports palate in Newmarket is a bit jaded. Always a championship or in the runner-up spot, the Redmen go out of competition for the time being in a blaze of glory that we doubt will ever be equalled again in the same period of years.

Aurora now finds itself boosted from the question mark position to a team that must be looked upon as a real contender. Only a hurler of proved merit is needed to go further and say they'll be the team to beat, and the scouts are working on that very proposition now.

Cain, Gibney, and Hilton all had plenty last year and should be able to start out where they left off. VanZant has the pep needed to bring out a pitcher's best and some of the Aurora tossers of other years would have been different performers pitching to the canny Charlie. He may not be available for full duty but he'll add plenty of punch. Jack Luck we thought was the best first year performer we'd seen in years. He has already been out to practice.

Glover, another first year performer, went well in spots and might just surprise the boys with his southpaw slants.

Trivett and Giles are in the veteran class, we mean they're past their best playing days but they're handy in a pinch and will form some real brainstrusters for the local management. Cook, brother of Stouffville's Earl Cook, who toiled on the hillock in the Lake Simcoe league last year, is also available along with a Bradford protege of Charlie VanZant. Preston, Hillis and Shore, added to that threesome, should get results. Leon. Simmons has lost that wrinkled brow and his facial expression wears a smile now as he thinks of the reinforcements on hand which came like manna did to the Israelites or words to that effect. We may have missed some of the others available, too, but, if we did, they'll find a hearty welcome in the Aurora camp.

Holstein Club Will Hold Annual Picnic

The York county Holstein club has completed plans for their annual picnic at Elm Park, Woodbridge, on Saturday, June 7, when a very interesting program will be carried out, starting with lunch at 11.30 E.S.T. The club has been fortunate in securing as their guest speaker, Dr. G. I. Christie, of the Ontario Agricultural College.

Following lunch hour a judging competition and type demonstration will be carried out by C. D. Graham of Brantford, who has recently been appointed chief of the field staff of the Canadian Holstein Association. Quite a line-up of prizes has been provided for this event by the merchants of the district.

There will be races and a variety of sports for young and old, according to President Roy Barker of Woodbridge, who will be in charge of the program, with the assistance of Secretary E. F. Ramsay of Sharon.

Junior Farmers Plan Judging Competition

With June fast approaching, the York county Junior Farmers are again brushing up on their livestock judging in preparation for the annual judging competition, which will be held in the Richmond Hill district on Friday, June 6, at 8.30 E.S.T.

The girls who have been working on the junior home-making projects throughout the past year will hold their "Achievement Day" display the same day.

The boys will visit farms in that district to judge two classes each of heavy horses, sheep, swine, dairy cattle and beef cattle, but this year the boys will have to give reasons on only one class of each type of stock. This will make the contest somewhat more attractive to beginners.

As usual, the day's program will conclude with a banquet and presentation of prizes, in the United church Sunday-school rooms.

CALF CLUB MEMBERS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

During the past few weeks, a boys' calf club has been organized in this district under the direction of W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative for York county. As anticipated early in the season, the club is smaller this year than it would have been under normal conditions of farm labor. However, 16 boys have joined the club, covering an area consisting of East Gwillimbury, Whitchurch and King townships.

Recently, an organization meeting was held in the department of agriculture office at Newmarket at which time Ivan Fairbarn of Sharon was elected president, David Weddel of Sharon, vice-president, and Louis Cull of Kettleby, secretary-treasurer.

During the summer and early autumn several meetings will be held for the purpose of judging cattle and discussion on feed, management and care of an animal. Achievement Day will be held at Sharon in the fall and a few of the boys will have a chance to show at the C.N.E.

The calf club is in the charge of Dick Hilliard, assistant at Newmarket.

Appeal To Farmers To Help Replace "Hood"

"This time we are all in the front line."

An urgent appeal is issued by the East Gwillimbury Red Cross in their salvage campaign. Anything but tin can be used in the manufacture of munitions or in Winston Churchill's words, "Tools to finish the job." Everyone is asked to do their part in gathering up old iron and take it to one of the places where a truck will pick it up for delivery.

Will farmers please make this effort? Take a half-day off and with wagon, truck, car, trailer or stone boat, take their scrap metal, bones, rags, glass, or anything but tin, to the nearest assembly point. If in doubt, call the local Red Cross representative.

East Gwillimbury is determined to contribute its share of 42,000 tons of metal to replace the H.M.S. Hood. "Let's clean up the farmyards to help clean up the Atlantic!" those in charge of the campaign say.

OPPORTUNITY!

BRITISH ORDERS so far this year for 466,000 cases of eggs (13,980,000 dozen) should take off the Canadian market a good big proportion of the eggs that would otherwise be put into cold storage. The army, navy, air force, and increasing civilian demand are also taking great quantities. What will happen next fall when yearling flocks drop off in production, and egg prices as usual climb to their peak for the year? It is logical to expect, with fewer storage eggs to take up the slack, that egg prices will be strong and that the period of higher prices will last longer.

On the meat end of the business, too, prospects look promising. A good many people have more money in their pockets than they had a year ago. There is no great surplus of poultry meat overhanging the market. Other meats are either holding steady or going up.

Right now, with all signs pointing to a good year for poultry, it looks like a good sound business proposition to get as many BRAY chicks as you can handle properly, and raise them right. We can still supply you with day-old or started chicks for immediate shipment. Don't delay—order Bray Chicks today.

A GUIDE to the Point of Sale

OUR local stores are the display rooms and warehouses for the world's finest products. Through the advertising columns of this newspaper the public can best be told where to buy this merchandise. People read this paper because they are interested in the news of the day and they welcome the opportunity to read about the goods offered by our local merchants.

ADVERTISING in this newspaper is good business not only because it reaches the right people, but because such advertising is protected by our verified circulation.

This paper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a national, cooperative association of publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies.

The Bureau was organized in 1914. For the protection and information of advertisers, the Bureau's auditors make an annual audit of the circulation records of all publisher members.

This audited information is issued in A. B. C. reports which show how many copies are printed, where they go and many other facts the advertiser should know about the newspaper in which he spends money for advertising.

Just as known standards of quality, weight and measures exist for merchandise, so recognized standards exist for circulation values. These are found only in reports issued by the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Serving both readers and merchants, advertising in this newspaper is a dependable guide to the point of sale.

THERE'S NO FOOL LIKE AN OLD FOOL

British consular officials at New York are somewhat perturbed at George Bernard Shaw's speech, which is the prelude to his "Major Barbara," which goes something like this . . . "I am sending you my old plays just like you are sending us your old destroyers. Our government has thrown in a few naval bases as well; it makes the bargain perhaps more welcome to you."

Advertising men in New York have been quick to capitalize on this dialogue and have created cartoons of G.B.S. embodying portions of the objectionable dialogue. This makes the situation more irritating.

ENTER TELEVISION

The Rialto theatre on Broadway will be the only theatre in the world to present television on a commercial basis since the closing of the Odeon and the Monseigneur in London, due to the "Blitz." These theatres have been presenting television for the past year.

GREENLAND WELCOMES UNCLE SAM AND HOLLYWOOD

Captain Otto Nielsen, who recently returned from Greenland, said that "one of the most powerful reasons why the natives of Greenland welcomed American intervention is because U.S. coastguard cutters brought with them new American-made films, while the motion pictures exhibited there previously were several years old."

GENE AUTRY AND LONDON'S BOBBIES

It has been said that American manufacturers have a lot to gain in trade from the exhibition of American-made films, which show their products used in Hollywood. For the first time in history London's bobbies will carry revolvers. These will be typical American six-shooters, made famous by the Hollywood shoot 'em up cowboys.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE

Four famous Shakesperian plays will be produced shortly. They are Macbeth, Hamlet, Twelfth Night and All's Well that Ends Well. It is planned to build an actual replica of the old Globe theatre in England as one of the stage sets. These will be available for general release, although they are anticipated more or less for school and study groups.

BRITAIN DELIVERS THE GOODS

No cessation in activity seems to be the policy of the British studios. Last week the Fox production, "Kipps," was given its world premiere at Folkestone, in Kent, within reach of Nazi guns on the French coast and to the music of the British fighter planes patrolling the air above. Thirteen hundred and fifty people crowded the Central cinema to see their favorite star, Michael Redgrave, and Diana Wynyard.

HE'S IN BIG TIME NOW

Gene Autry, the screen's number one cowboy, who was starred in "Melody Ranch," his first musical extravaganza, will soon begin work in another big production, "Down Mexico Way." Studio executives are also considering Jimmy Durante, plus other top names, for his next supporting cast.

INVASION FROM THE AIR

R.K.O. will be the first company to produce a picture dealing with parachute troops, entitled, "Parachute Battalion." No doubt the daily headlines should supply the necessary script and ideas for background.

THE BUSIEST MAN IN HOLLYWOOD

Jack Oakie has two more pictures to make for Fox. He is working at Warner's in "Navy Blues" and he has joined M.G.M., Paramount and R.K.O. Now he is busy trying to figure out how he can be at all these studios without interfering with one another.

WILL WE NEED NEW GLASSES?

Samuel Goldwyn is all set to produce a burlesque strip tease story, and has hired Lou Costello (Buck Privates) as technical adviser. Are the censors sharpening the shears? What an embarrassing question?

TRUNK AND ALL

If you happen to run into an exceptionally large elephant send a wire, collect, to Paramount at once because they are looking for an exceptionally large animal for Dorothy Lamour's next picture, "King and Queen of the Jungle."

Mickey Rooney's latest, "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," is to be followed by "Life Begins for Andy Hardy," which will again co-star Judy Garland.

BIRTHDAY CLUB

(in co-operation with Strand theatre)

Birthday greetings to:

Beulah Rutledge, R.R. 1, Newmarket, 14 years old today, Thursday, May 29.

Winners of last week's contest: Jack McCarnan, Newmarket, Peter White, Newmarket, Ruth Keffer, Newmarket, Sheila and Ada Marles, Holt. They all got the correct answer—"Nazis. Gone. Top. Drawer. Left."

Other members submitted correct answers but lost out in the draw.

When they appear for the matinee at the Strand theatre on Saturday afternoon, they will get their free admissions to the show. There's a Gene Autry picture being shown. If out-of-town children are unable to get to this week's matinee, they will be admitted to next week's matinee.

New birthday club members this week are Jack McCarnan and Sheila and Ada Marles.

There are now 49 members belonging to the birthday club. Let's boost it up a lot more yet. You don't have to solve the week's problem to join, but it's fun to do that anyway, and you may be one of the five lucky ones (14 years or under) who each week get free admission to the Saturday matinee at the Strand.

Now read this week's story.

THE CONTEST STORY

"It's got me," said Constable No. 677.

"Never mind," said his mate, No. 81, putting down the telephone. "C.I.D. will be here soon."

Inspector Greenback, with a sergeant-detective, a fingerprint expert, and a doctor arrived shortly.

Dr. Wiseman looked at the figure on the floor. "Poor fellow, he's just gone," he said. "Nothing I can do now."

"You can't help him, but you can help us," said Inspector Greenback. "What's the cause of death?"

"We'll have to have an autopsy, of course, to say definitely, but it looks like concussion from a blow on the back of the head. This turban has softened the blow, however, and there may be other causes."

Detective Sureluck was studying the notes made by Constable No. 677. "Take the extra 'e' sound out of it, and you get, 'Nazis. Gone. Top. Drawer. Left.' That's easy."

"Good work," commented the inspector. "Now what does it mean? Look around."

In a moment he saw that there were at least half a dozen cabinets or desks in the room to which the message might refer. "The victim is probably a Mohammedan," he reflected. "He would look toward Mecca and his 'left' would therefore be north."

There was only one cabinet on the north side of the room, and the detective went straight to the top drawer. Putting on a pair of rubber gloves, he opened it gingerly.

Lying in full sight in the drawer was a beautiful piece of jewelry, fit for a queen. In the centre was a diamond, surrounded by five emeralds, and each emerald in turn had five pearls clustered near it.

"Whew!" exclaimed the detective. He began to count as the others joined him excitedly.

How many precious stones did he count on the piece of jewelry he had found?

(This is not as easy as it looks. Consult the family before submitting your answer.)

GEORGINA TOWNSHIP

Postpone Decision On Appointing Constable

Georgina township council met at Pefferlaw on Monday, May 5, with all members present.

Regarding a communication from W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative for York county, about a credit balance of school fair monies, a motion was passed that any surplus money remaining in the possession of Mr. Cockburn be returned to the treasurer, W. C. Evans.

Several communications were received from non-resident ratepayers of the township in regard to police protection, and several applications were also received for the position of township constable. After a lengthy discussion it was moved by Councillor Graham, seconded by Councillor Cronsberry and carried that the appointing of a township constable be laid over until the regular meeting in June.

The collector's time for returning the roll was extended until the next regular meeting of the council.

A road voucher totalling $204.34 was accepted.

General accounts paid included Workmen's Compensation, re F. Arnold claim, $9; York county hospitalization, $123.15; Toronto General hospital, $1; F .W. Collins, moving, $1.50; Johnston's general store, relief, $2, $8; Mrs. E. Riches, rent re indigent, $3.

Johnston's general store, relief, $3; J. N. Umphrey, relief, $16.03; Dr. Shillington, med. attention re indigents, $12.75; C. W. Bodley, relief, $6, $3; C. Willis, relief officer, January, $10.80.

The council adjourned to meet again at Pefferlaw on Monday, June 2, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of holding a court of revision of the 1941 assessment roll, and the transacting of general business.

ANCIENT ELM IS ONLY AGED TREE AFTER ALL

A suggestion that the famous Timothy St. elm tree be cut down in its now old age and that a picture of it, together with its history, be displayed in a prominent place on Timothy St., was received in a letter to the town council last week.

The letter came from a tree expert in Guelph. He said that these documents, relating to the tree's history, could be put in a glass-fronted stand.

Councillor A. D. Evans said that he thought he would get the water and light department employees to trim off the dead limbs of the tree. "We now have the equipment to do that," he said.

"That may give the tree a new life," declared Councillor Wm. Dixon. The letter was filed.

Newmarket people have accepted for a long time, without much question, the stories and tales that have grown up with the now ancient and famous elm tree which stands in the middle of Timothy St., but, as far as can be learned by town historians, the ancient elm has not had as romantic a background as imagined.

The story goes that, early in the 1800's, 300 to 400 Indians would gather at a time to barter their furs to Messrs. Roe, Robinson and Borland, early Newmarket pioneers, under the spreading branches of the elm and that $50,000 would often be the value of a week's "take" in furs. This "new market" was a more convenient market for the redmen than going to York (so goes the story), and thus the town was named Newmarket.

However, Fred Hartry, an authority on town history, told The Era this week that his father had had no recollection that there were such goings-on under the tree and that neither are they mentioned in the Bogart history of early Newmarket. He said that his father did tell him of the time when fur-bartering was conducted in front of where the Strand theatre is now located on Main St., and when the Indians held their delirious dances in front of where now stands the King George hotel. However, Timothy St. was only a wilderness of trees, the ancient elm among them.

Mr. Hartry supposed that the reason the tree was left standing when the others were uprooted to make way for the road was because it was too big to take down, and not for other more romantic reasons.

HELEN GUY HEARD IN SONG RECITAL

Miss Helen Guy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Guy, formerly of Newmarket, gave a song recital last week in the Toronto Conservatory of Music concert hall. The recital received warm praise from the critics.

HELPS BOYS OVERSEAS

The Newmarket fire brigade recently sent two shipments of cigarettes to Newmarket boys overseas. Funds for these were raised at the annual firemen's euchre, dance and draw.

HE'S IN AGAIN

A veteran of the first Great War, Howard Hugo, Newmarket, has joined the army again. He expects to be attached to the staff of the military camp for the present.

ELECTED A DIRECTOR

W. A. Spear, an executive of the Office Specialty Co., Newmarket, was elected a director of the Toronto-York division of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association at the annual meeting in Toronto last week.

MERCHANTS PREFER MONDAY TO SATURDAY

Although public holidays do not fall on Saturdays very often, when they do, they are not very popular with most merchants.

"I think it would be much better to have all non-religious holidays on a Monday rather than on a Saturday," C. F. Willis, Newmarket tailor, told The Era.

"We think all such holidays should be held on Monday," agreed R. C. Morrison. "The farmer likes to come in and shop on Saturday."

"The Monday holiday has its points both pro and con," Elman Campbell, book and stationery merchant, declared. "I don't think the Saturday holiday makes much difference in business as far as we are concerned. However, certain items do sell better on a Saturday."

The general opinion seems to be that holidays that occur on Saturday should be transferred to Monday when they can be enjoyed just as well and with less pain.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH MINISTER DIES IN U. S.

Rev. Alexander Mackenzie, 70 who was pastor of the Congregational-Christian church here for two years, died in Strong Memorial hospital, Rochester, N.Y., recently.

During his brief stay in Newmarket from 1910 to 1912, Mr. Mackenzie made many friends and was popular with all classes and creeds. On his return to the U.S., many citizens of the town gathered to pay testimony to his good work and the late Rev. Father Wedlock, who was pastor of St. John's R.C. church, made a presentation to him and Mrs. Mackenzie on behalf of the townspeople.

Rev. Mr. Mackenzie was born in Scotland and came to the United States in 1890. He was a student at Genesee Wesleyan seminary at Lima, N.Y. He received his bachelor of divinity degree from Rochester Theological seminary in 1924. In 1918 he was a YMCA secretary with the A.E.F. in France. At the time of his death, he was pastor of Parma-Greece Christian church, Rochester, and before that was pastor of the East Rochester Baptist church for 22 years.

The funeral service was held in Rochester on Friday. Surviving are his widow, Fannie E. Mackenzie; a daughter, Helen M. Mackenzie of Albany; two sons, Charles of Waterport and Kenneth of East Rochester; and a brother, John, of Flint, Mich.

Pupils Receive Prizes For Temperance Study

The monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U., held at the home of Mrs. D. W. Lepard, on May 13, was a very interesting one.

The annual reports of all the superintendents of departments present were given. All were quite complete and showed that faithful work had been accomplished.

Special mention was made of the interest and splendid co-operation of the teachers in the public schools during the course of temperance study and examinations, also the wise choice of good books made by Mrs. J. A. Maitland and presented to the contestants. It was all appreciated very much by the union.

The pupils who received prizes were: Gordon Irwin, Alexander Muir school, grade seven; Barbara Attrill, King George school, and Margaret Fraser, Alexander Muir school, grade eight; Eileen Jackson, Stuart Scott school, grade seven.

The county convention for Peel and York will be held on May 27 in Willard hall, Toronto. The delegates appointed were Mrs. Arthur Winn, Mrs. J. D. Rowland, Miss L. Starr and Miss L. Toole.

The union would gratefully receive soap coupons to help in Travellers' Aid work.

The officers for the coming year are as follows: honorary president, Mrs. E. Western; president, Mrs. Arthur Winn; vice-president, Mrs. Roy Meades; recording secretary, Mrs. J. D. Rowland; corresponding secretary, Miss L. Starr; treasurer, Miss L. Toole.

After the program, the hostess, Mrs. Lepard, and her daughter, Mrs. Sam. Quast, served a delicious lunch.

NURSES GRADUATE

Louise Richardson, Sutton West, and Margaret Regan, King City, received their graduation diplomas from St. Michael's hospital school of nursing in Toronto on Friday.

LIBRARY BOARD BUYS NUMBER OF BOOKS

The library board has purchased a number of new books. In the last month over 100 have been put on the shelves, a small proportion of these being reprints.

The list includes non-fiction, fiction, and a splendid collection of juvenile books. A small number of the new titles are listed.

Non-fiction: England was an Island Once, by Elswyth Thane; Finland Forever, by Hudson Strode; Ambassador Dodd's Diary, edited by William E. and Martha Dodd; Green Mansions, by W. H. Hudson; One Foot in Heaven by Hartzell Spence.

Fiction: Mrs. Miniver, by Jan Struther; Fame is the Spur, by Howard Spring; One Thing in Common, "Elizabeth;" The Family, by Nina Fedorova; Once There was a Village, by Katharine Dunlap; Steffan Green, by Richmal Crompton.

For mysteries, the following were selected: The Dead Can Tell, by Helen Reilly; The Balcony, by Dorothy Cameron Disney; The Dutch Shoe Mystery, by Ellery Queen; Body Unknown, by Bruce Graeme.

For juveniles and those of teen age: Wings for Carol, by Patricia O'Malley; My Sister and I, by Dirk Van der Heide; Paula Goes Away to School, by Marguerite Vance; Mystery of the Jasper Jewel Case, by Jane Selkirk.

PAGE CHARLIE CHAN!

Residents of the west part of the town are puzzled. At about 8.30 o'clock last night, they saw a company of soldiers with packs marching along the streets, carrying two lanterns as if they intended to march in the dark.

Since the training camp soldiers usually quit work before that time, the townspeople are wondering where the soldiers originated. The answer is probably simple, but it hasn't been found yet.

FIRE WAS FALSE ALARM

A fire alarm rung from Eagle St. at five o'clock on Tuesday evening proved to be a false alarm. It is believed that a young boy turned in the alarm.

HOCKEY STAR VISITS TOWN

Bill Thoms, star forward man with the Chicago Black Hawks, was in town on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Thoms live in Toronto during the summer season.

PASTOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO RIGHT ROYAL COUPLE

"I think perhaps our present king will go down in history as a shepherd as perhaps no other British king," said Rev. Dr. A. E. Runnells at Trinity United church on Empire Sunday morning.

"And his queen the shepherdess," he added. "They go into the streets, helping the people, filling a kingly place."

Declares Church Must Carry On In War Time

The question of what the church should do in war-time was raised in a recent sermon by Rev. A. J. Patstone at St. Paul's Anglican church.

Present conditions called for "Hosannahs," implying the need for prayer, for prayer with confidence, and mingled with praise. In regard to the latter the rector told of an Austrian town menaced by the arrival outside of forces of Napoleon's army. It was Easter day, and when the town council met to plan a course of action the local dean of the church urged them to go on with the usual celebration of the festival. This was done, and when the French heard the church bells ringing out they thought the Austrians must have arrived in force, and they retired from the place.

"We need to keep our religious institutions and celebrations going even in war time," Mr. Patstone said. "Prayer, confidence, praise, and the best effort possible would lead to the deliverance we hope for.

"The question as to whether the church should carry on, and especially as to whether missionary work should be supported in war time was answered in the words of Lord Halifax in reply to an enquiry from the secretary of the International Missionary Council. Lord Halifax was then foreign secretary, and he replied, 'Action already taken has shown the desire of the British government that the services rendered by Christian missions should continue. I am myself quite clear that the support of foreign missionary work in time of war is an essential part of the church's witness. I should much regret if the responsibility which Christian people rightly feel towards the special needs and charities that press upon us in war time should lead them to desert this permanent and universal Christian obligation.'"

The sermon concluded with a forward look from the book of Revelation—"After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues stood before the throne and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands, and cried with a loud voice, saying, 'Salvation to our God (Hosanna) which sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb.'"

Down the Years From 1908

(A clipping fell out of a book this week, and it turned out to be an article called "The English Winston Churchill," from the Literary Digest of Aug. 8, 1908. It's rather interesting.)

Mr. Winston Churchill is often pointed out as one of the most picturesque figures in contemporary English politics. The brilliancy of his public career serves, perhaps, to dim the position he holds in contemporary literature, which, we are assured, ranks him "with the masters." He is said to "combine in his person those diverse and proverbially irreconcilable qualities of the man of action, the orator, and the man of letters." A hint of explanation of this diversity is given by a writer in the English Bookman (London, July) in pointing out that his American mother, now Mrs. Cornwallis-West, may have endowed him with his "precocity, assertiveness, and restless energy," characteristic of her nationality, while from his father came his "hereditary aptitude for affairs and the grand style in entering upon them"—"part of the inalienable inheritance that has been handed down to him from his illustrious ancestor, the great Duke of Marlborough." He was an author and had four books to his credit before he became a parliamentary candidate. One of these—his life of his father, Lord Randolph Churchill—drew from Lord Rosebery the tribute of "a fascinating book, one to be marked among the first dozen, perhaps the first half-dozen, biographies in our language." His other literary titles to fame are his work "as a brilliant war correspondent, as a military historian, as a novelist." His novel, "Savrola," was published in 1900, after having appeared serially three years earlier in Macmillan's. It is described as "one of the school that Mr. George Meredith founded and Mr. Anthony Hope has taken over." Only it is "less romantic, more realistic than stories of that school are apt to be, comes to closer grip with actual problems of modern life, and has a high seriousness of its own." The writer in The Bookman gives us this further analysis:

"Its scenes are laid in an imaginary republic whose president, ambitious and unscrupulous, is rapidly developing into a despot, and Savrola is the popular leader of the reform party. The president has rigorously and brutally represt a threatened riot by promptly shooting down the people in the street, and Savrola, who had hoped to mend matters by constitutional methods, sees that he is bent upon a coup d'etat, and that the time has come to yield to the importunities of the more fiery of his supporters and resort to force, but he keeps his head and resolutely curbs the impatience of his friends until everything is in readiness and the right hour has struck.

"A man of lofty ideals, a humanitarian, a scornfully incorruptible politician, Savrola is also an eloquent orator who can play upon the sentiments and passions of an audience as skilfully as a musician can upon his instrument; he is an autocratic, not a passionate lover; he is cool and diplomatic enough always to hold his enthusiasms in leash, but he can be as heroic as the most reckless when there is nothing more to be gained by waiting or caution. I share the general impression that Savrola is the shadow of his creator, that Mr. Churchill has endowed him with the doubts, the dreams, the aspirations, and something of the philosophy that are in reality his own."

In the same year with "Savrola" were published "London to Ladysmith via Pretoria" and "Ian Hamilton's March," says the writer, "the two books that, including and supplementing his South-African war correspondence to The Morning Post, made Mr. Churchill's name a household word from end to end of the country." We read:

"Wherever you went in those days he was a subject of discussion, of eulogy and detraction; there were the usual armchair oracles who sneered and ridiculed, of course, but the multitude was taken with the dash and go and enterprise with which he had plunged headlong into danger, and filled with a glamorous and perilous part in some of the most stirring incidents of the war. He was a well-known journalist already, but now he awoke one morning to find himself a famous and a popular one, and a national hero, to boot.

"It is a gallant and a memorable story, his of the Boer War, and he has narrated his personal share in it with gusto, joyously, straightforwardly, picturesquely, honestly, without mock modesty and without boastfulness; nor is he diffident about giving frank expression to his views on the conduct of the war, about discussing with equal frankness its causes and the personal behavior of those on the spot whose future hopes and prosperity hung on the success of the British arms. It is very characteristic, too, that though he sailed to the Cape a believer in the necessity of the war, and with a rooted prejudice against the Boer that amounted almost to contempt, he came back glorying in England's victory, but, in spite of some rough handling he had received from him, with all his prejudice against the beaten enemy uprooted, his dislike turned to a generous admiration, his contempt of him into respect and regard because of the simple sincerity and uprightness he had found in him. One of the most hauntingly pathetic touches in "London to Ladysmith" occurs in a strong, poignant little sketch of the homely, sternly, earnest-looking, gray-haired old Boer whom he paused to look down on as he lay dead, with his rifle in his hands, on one of the battlefields.

"This courageous readiness to discard a mistaken opinion, as soon as he has been nearer to the matter and discovered his mistake, leads those who have merely acquired opinions pretty much as they acquired their baptismal names to charge Mr. Churchill with instability and inconsistency, but to anyone who stops to think about it, it is one of the finest and manliest traits in his character."

It was during the six years after his first election to the House of Commons, that Mr. Churchill wrote that biography of his father which is treated in these words:

"Judged either as literature or as a contribution to modern history, it is probably the ablest and most important of his books. Here, as in all he has written, the style is the man: virile, eager, emphatic, impetuous in utterance, but deliberate in judgment. He writes as he speaks, racily, vividly, rising to heights of glowing eloquence, flecking his pages with humor and irony, handling facts and figures lightly, luminously, attractively, going down, at need, to dead levels of every-day affairs and making them live wherever he touches them. His style is amazingly sensitive and flexible; familiar, dignified, lively, serious by turns, it keeps always to the changing level of its argument with an apparently effortless ease that is the perfection of narrative art. When there is some master-stroke of parliamentary tactics, some popular triumph of action or oratory to be recorded, you feel the pride and vigor and elation of that triumph pulsing in the language that tells of it; but nothing could be more quietly restrained, plainer, more simply matter-of-fact than the unemotional terms in which the tragedy of Lord Randolph's closing days are set down, and nothing more dramatically and poignantly effective . . .

"The literary instinct is still prevailingly alive in him, and his plans for the future are not bounded entirely by the parliamentary horizon. For many men his arduous and anxious political activities would be more than a sufficient occupation, but he is a man of extraordinary energies and industry, and more systematic and plodding than his restless, highly nervous temperament would lead one to expect."

Your Gift to Your Children—

There is nothing which will prove more helpful or more valuable to your children throughout life than the health and rugged constitutions which can be built only through lots of milk during the childhood years.

Too many of us today unfortunately are subject to many ills which would not be ours if the facts now known to medical science had been known to our parents and we had been given lots of milk. Doctors say a child should have a quart of milk a day, and an adult should have a pint.

That is much more milk than the average family is using, but following these scientific teachings is reaping dividends for many families who are finding milk a builder of health and a sickness preventive. Milk is also the best success insurance you can buy for your boys and girls.
